Dear Stretg,

Hi ole buddy. Well just think next year you'll be a sophmore and I'll be a BIG Senior. It sure has been fun knowing you this past year. Although you've insulted me about being short among other things. Its a lot of fun to be around someone who cuts up a lot though. I hope you always keep your friendly and jolly attitude always. You're a real neat guy and I hope we can be friends long after school. Good luck to a sweet guy in anything you attemp.

Love ya.
Carmen

Bob,
Its been neat
knowing you this year. Hope we will have fun
this summer
Good Luck.

Dear Bob,
Remember your party. ~~last~~ We've always had fun together even though we're both Freshies. MMG.
Best wishes to a real neat, sweet, petite? boy. I hope next year we'll be in some classes together. Love
Penny W.

Dear Bob,
It's been a lot of fun in study hall & Algebra this year. I wish the best of luck to you in later years, you'll need it. By the way, you're a very good slurper in Algebra.
Tim Byrne

Dear Bob,
I'm sure has been fun this year in P.E. ### Don't get too much this summer, and keep your butt wiped. And I'll see you next year in ~~[illegible]~~ football. And the next three years I hope are successful (not really) for you.
Craig

It has been real nice knowing you these past years. I hope you have a lot of fun this summer and that we can get together.
P.S Good Luck to a Swell Guy
Love ya

Academic participation plays an integral role in each person's scheme of life, and as he journeys the paths of experiences, his personality is developed for the first time as an adult. To chart a map of an educational career is like the burning of a candle's wick; that is, the unburnt part being the future, the flame the present, and the remaining ash being the remnants of our history. As our elders have once lived the history of which we now examine with curiosity, so are we living the present moment which will be studied by future generations.

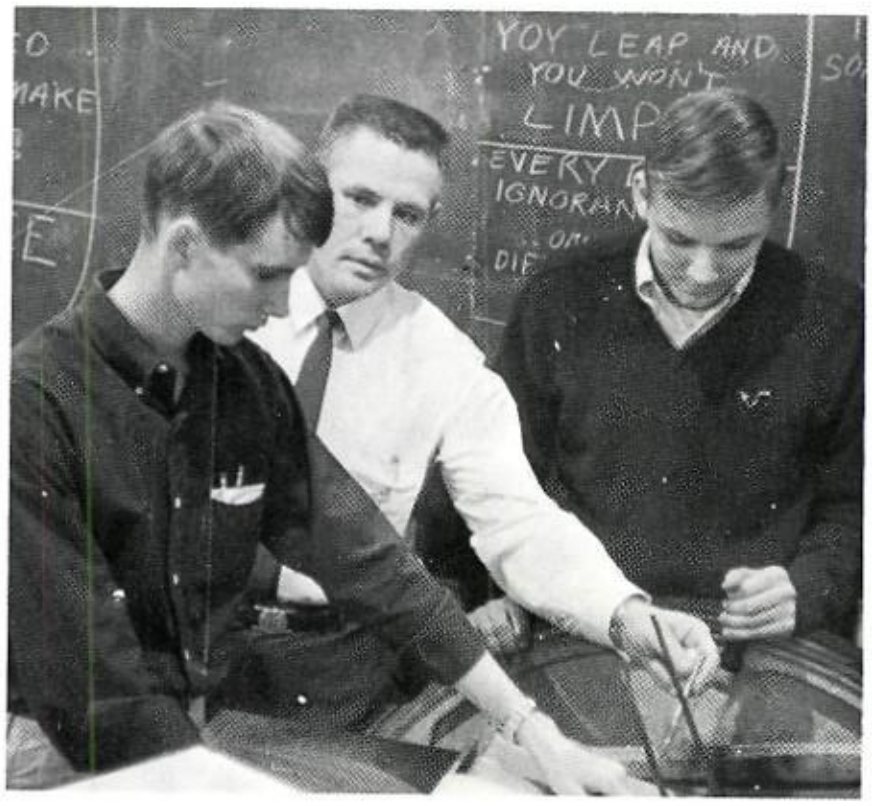
After a strenuous chore of daily routine, Mr. Ott leaves for his home and family.



The graphic arts class, under the supervision of Mr. Ott, produced Terrier booster ribbons.

Mr. Ott's encouraging smile is welcomed by faculty and students alike.

Capable and Cheerful . . . Mr. Ott

Mr. Ott rushes to distribute class-made posters for publicity of Bye-Bye Birdie.

Due to the type of educational course he teaches, several students lack the opportunity of gaining Mr. Ott's acquaintance and knowledge. However, those who do come in contact with him will affirm his wide range of capabilities in instruction and encouragement to the student. Aware of his willingness and cooperation in time of necessity, faculty and students alike turn to him.

In the classroom, Mr. Ott reveals his exceptional qualities of study which prove to be of great value to his students. He aids those interested in overcoming their handicaps and improving their capabilities.

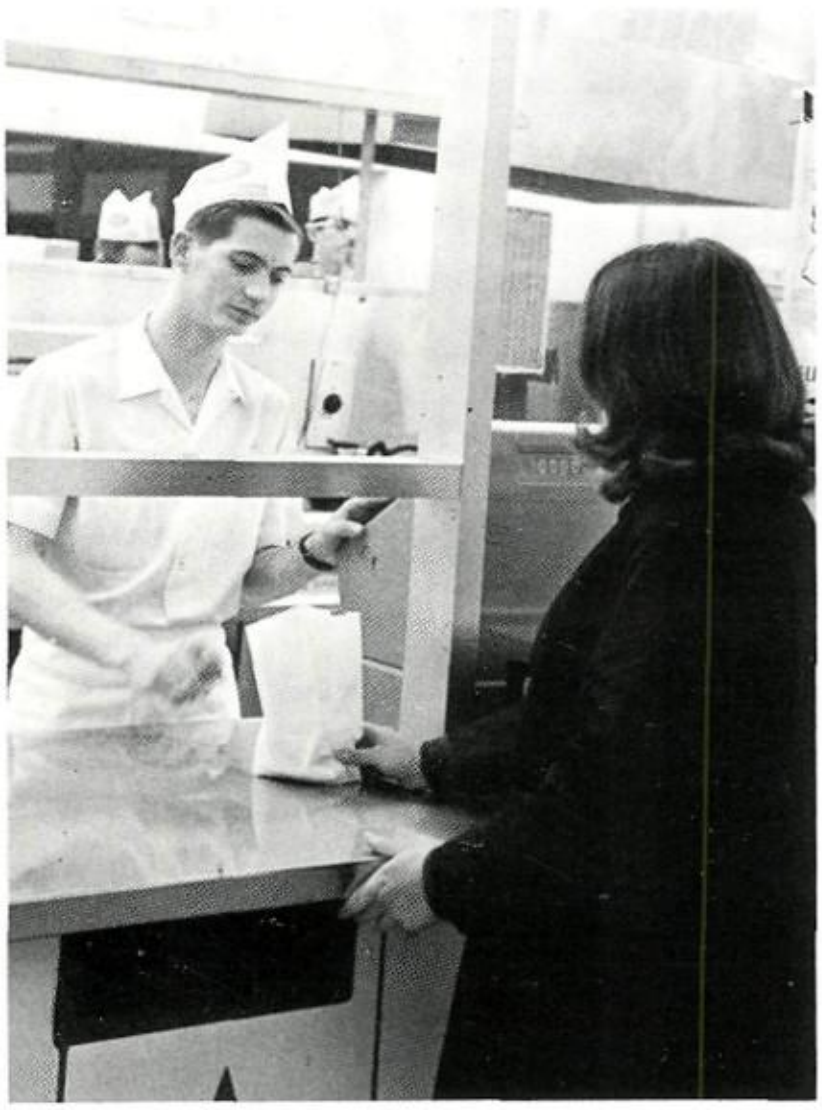
Although the shop occupies most of his time, Mr. Ott is never too busy to lend his support and services to the athletic and extracurricular aspects of schooling. He serves as a sponsor of the newly organized Industrial Education Club as well as scorekeeper at many home basketball games.

Due to your services to our staff and our school, your sincerity and heartwarming personality revealed in your ever present smile and friendly greeting, we, the 1966 DIAL staff, dedicate this book to you, Mr. Carlyle Ott.

Sooner or later every senior gains knowledge of the city government by attending a city council meeting.

Community Participation Builds

David Wilson, like many other students, accepted financial responsibilities in preparation for the business world.



Outside the realm of an academic environment, students participate independently towards the accomplishment of their individual goals. This most certainly is an esential factor in making the transition from immaturity to adulthood. However, as each person embarks upon his separate journey, he gradually departs from those ties which bind him to his childhood. As these advancements are deemed necessary and inevitable, they also can be made enjoyable as the process of metamorphosis occurs. In all walks of life it is pertinent that a great deal of time be devoted to the general background of the subject. By the commencement of familiarization with one's interests, progression is made in many areas which would otherwise be prohibited.

Tom Langdon represented Australia and CCHS at Youth World.

During the months of diligent studying, strenuous assignments, and challenging tests at school, each student is motivated and encouraged by the thoughts of summer vacation. When that final bell has sounded, the student body emerges from the halls of CCHS to engage in various activities.

There are some who remain and struggle through tedious weeks of summer school, but the majority of people become disassociated with institutions of learning during their free months. Some spend their time participating in clubs like 4-H, while others resort to jobs in order to make money for extras. Many people travel, but most find that there is much to be enjoyed in their own town. Lazy days at home or on the beach compose the nucleus of summer life for them. However, in those last days of vacation, when all that is left are pleasant memories of past adventures, there is a quiet yet definite anticipation of the coming year of school. The summer's escapades are pushed to the backs of minds, only to be recalled during those long months between September and June.

of Days Gone By

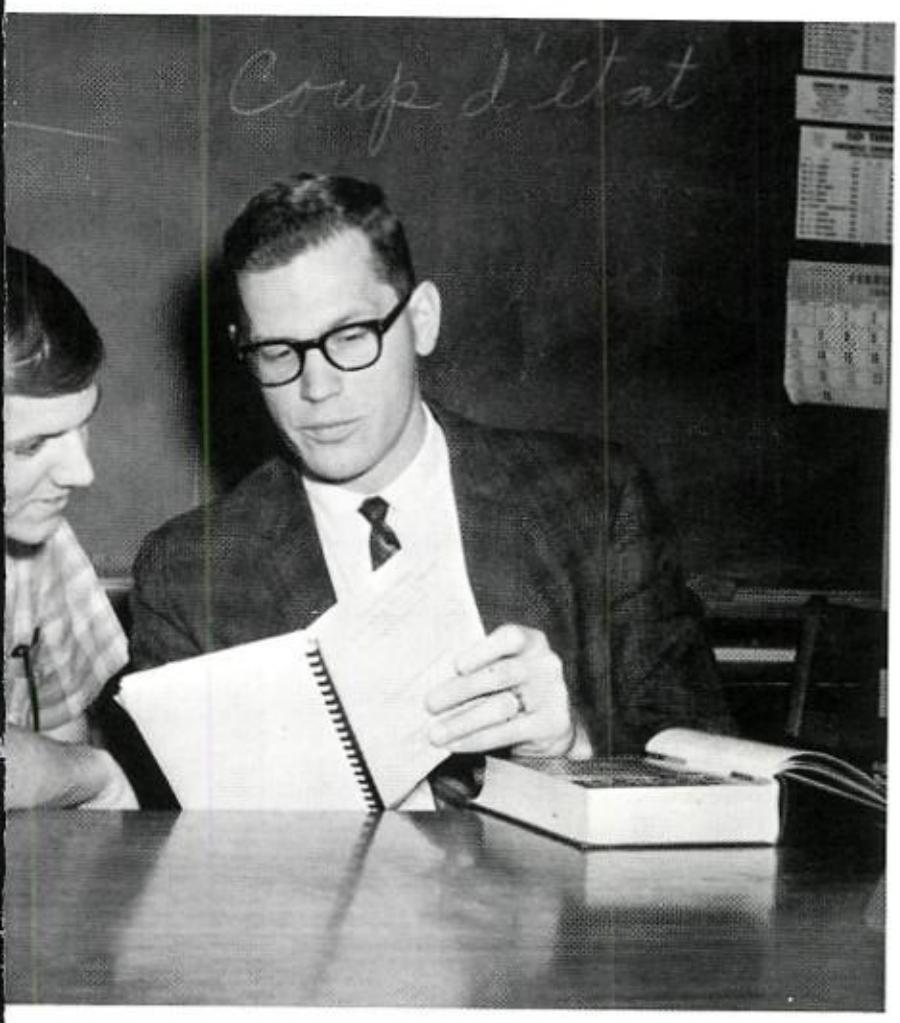
Senior girls enjoy sunny outings at the beach.

Newly organized bowling leagues provide an outlet for energy and a means for enjoyment.

Familiar Routine Constitutes

Geoff Partlow and Debbie Gray, like many other students, enjoy diversions from strenuous school days.

Daily life at CCHS consists of a pleasant mixture of routine events at school and extracurricular activities. Periodic trips to the school nurse, long waits in the lunch line, and uneventful yet enlightening class sessions compose most of the long weeks of schooling. Dull, humdrum and monotonous may well describe the majority of days at Community, but those words give way to challenging, exciting, and memorable when one recalls the casual incidents which added the enjoyment and appreciation to high school life. After several hours of studying, students escape such a tedious chore by bowling with the YMCA league, socializing at the newly remodeled Teen Town, or just loafing with a special someone. But no matter where one may be or what he may be doing, life for the high school student is a combination of classrom and leisure activities at every level.



Charles Sobery discusses the possible outcome of his government grade with Mr. Emme.

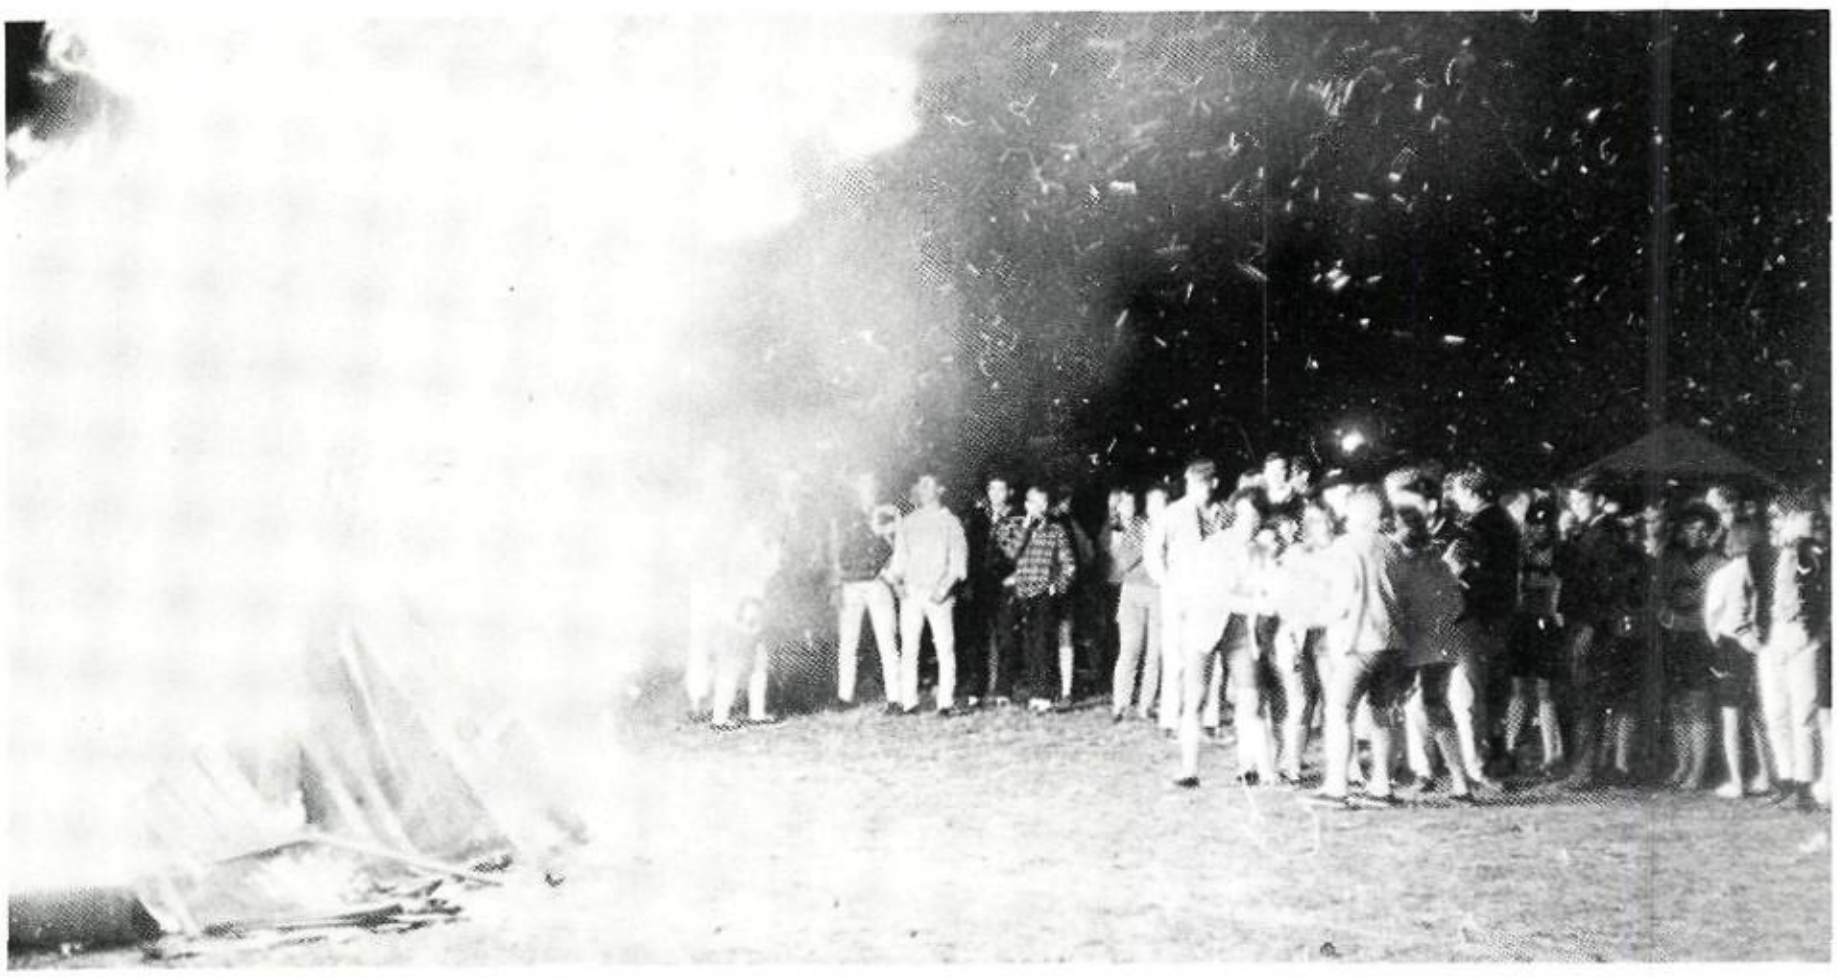
Exciting Events Accent

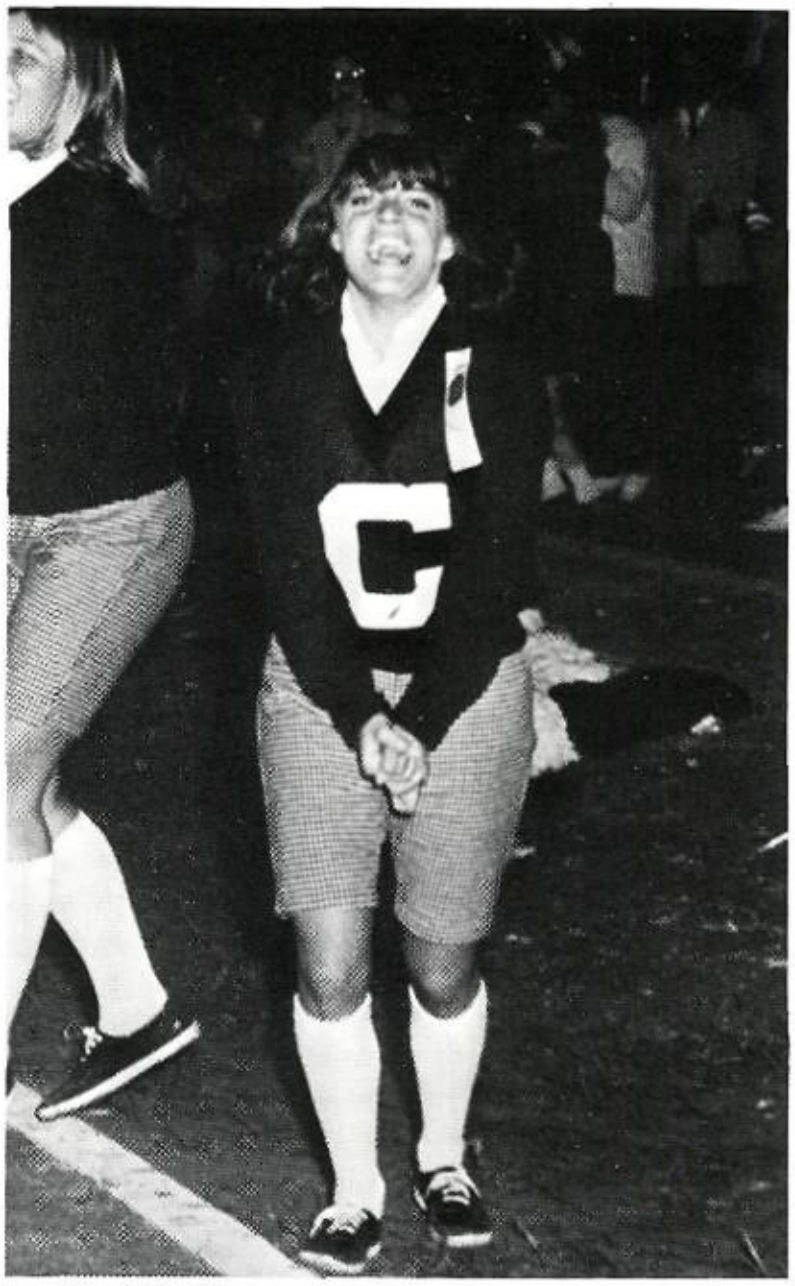
The excitement of Homecoming began with the Thursday night bonfire.



of the Armistice Day game, cheer the team on to victory.

Enthusiasm

Amid the tiring strain of semester exams and the never-ending routine of classes, exciting events arise throughout the school year. Students find enjoyment and anticipation in the seasonal dances, action-packed ballgames and amusing plays, all of which add variety to one's school life. This change of pace makes itself ever so welcome in the monotony of everyday life. These incidents have become just as important to the teenager as the academic world. Not only do the planned social activities liven up the year, but many times unexpected incidents such as bomb scares create just as welcome an excitement. These few special happenings are often held precious among the high school memories.



Ecstatic Susan Gasaway gasps at the tie-breaking touchdown.

All the attendants experience the thrill of the coronation.

The newly inducted Honor Society members take a breather after a tiring day.

There comes a time during one's life when he must look back over past years and recall the many events and experiences which have thus far shaped his destiny. The high school student is no exception. Actually, his memory often contains experiences and emotions which are never repeated in later life—the first love, rousing pep sessions, or anxious nights of studying before final exams. For each person there is something—one moment in time, one glance, one encouraging word—that stands foremost in his mind as the best part of his entire high school career. Just as the pleasant memories are built up, the unpleasant memories are pushed to the back of one's mind until they both mingle together and form the picture of Carbondale Community High School life as each individual sees it.

Historians of an Academic Year

Mrs. Page and Donna Crow managed the finances for the 1966 DIAL.

As each section of the 1966 DIAL was sent to be printed, each staff member felt relieved and yet satisfied in the work he had accomplished. Even more than in past years, the staff was united in an effort to produce a bigger and better yearbook.

With a larger staff of editors, Mrs. Odum guided the progress of the book with a firm hand. The business staff, striving to meet the needs of a larger book, worked under Mrs. Page's supervision and a staff of excellent managers. Through continual co-operation, many people seeking to perfect the final product, in sacrificing much time and enjoyment, created this chronicle of history known as the DIAL of 1966.

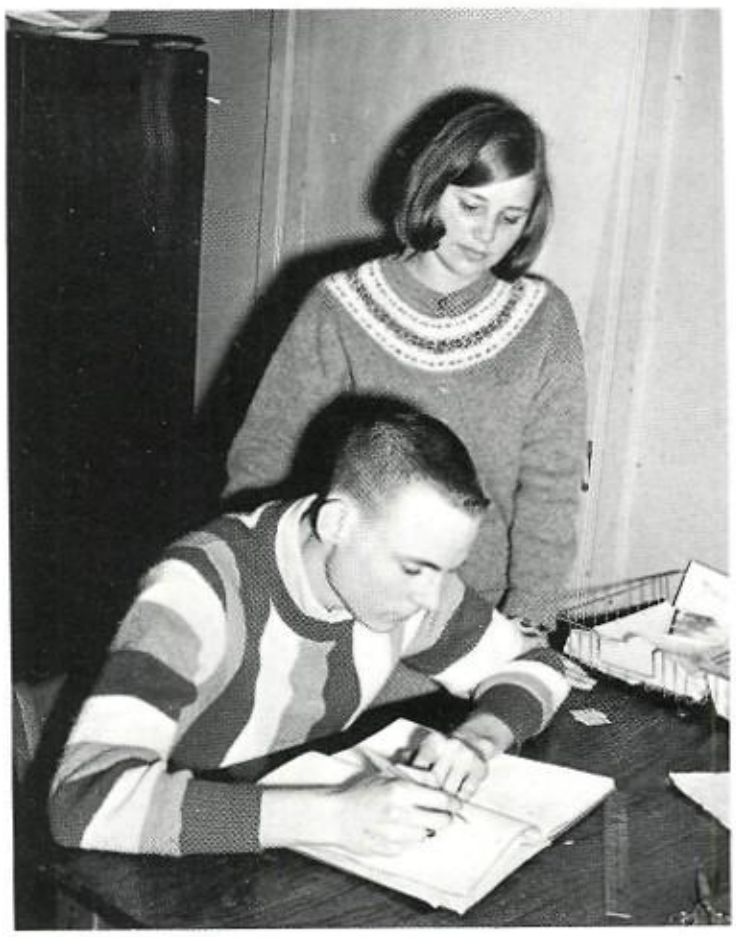
Voice of the Students



Gregg Fozard, business manager, and Sarah Brigham, assistant editor, served as integral parts of this year's staff.

Under the supervision of Mrs. O'Day, the MONITOR served as an informative service to the students, faculty, and the community. The experience of serving on this staff also gave those interested in journalism an opportunity to become acquainted with the aspect of newspaper work.

As the student body of CCHS grew, the services of the MONITOR began to expand also. In addition to keeping the public informed on current events, paper books were also sold by the staff members as an extra service. Thus, all will agree that the MONITOR truly serves the people.

Mrs. O'Day successfully aided the MONITOR staff as advisor.

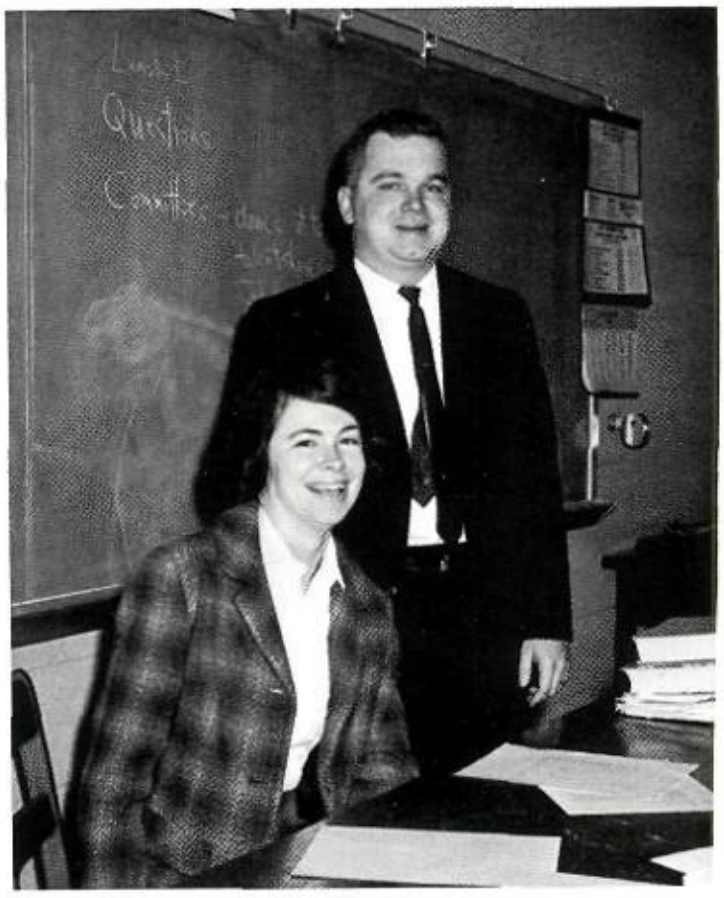
Mr. Leming and Mrs. Howell both completed their first year as Student Council advisors.



In the twenty-first year of its existence, the Student Council began a year under the guidance of Mrs. Howell and Mr. Leming. Under the capable leadership of Tom Langdon and Dan McKissic, the Council experienced one of its richest years.

Serving as a link between the student body and the administration, the Student Council performed not only such tasks as sponsoring Homecoming and various other dances but also held special days promoting school spirit. The Council served the students by guarding the lunch lines and offering school sweatshirts throughout the year.

Character, Leadership, Scholarship, Service

Newly elected member, Dan McKissic receives pin from Mrs. Sullivan.

To be deemed worthy of membership in the National Honor Society is one of the greatest honors which can be conferred upon a student at CCHS. For the past eighteen years, this honor has been granted to the students of Community High School.

The purpose of this honorary organization is to encourage the development of character, to create a desire for scholarship, to inspire greater efforts of leadership, and to render a desire to serve the student body.

Junior or senior students who have maintained a B average throughout high school are considered eligible. From this group, the faculty members chose five percent of the junior class and fifteen per cent of the senior class on the basis of character, scholarship, leadership, and service.

In the early spring of 1966, a candle lighting induction ceremony was held for the new members. A few days later the customary "dress up" day was held in honor of this group of students.

Award for Journalism

The Quill and Scroll International Honorary Society for High School Journalists observed its fifth year of existence at C.C.H.S. The newly elected members chosen to replace those who graduated met the same high standards as their predecessors. Under the direction of Mrs. Odum, the Society maintained its degree of excellence by electing twenty new members who had maintained a "B" average throughout high school.

Matters of the Logical Mind

Miss Cox explains problem to puzzled Math Club members, Greg Fozard and Dick Langdon.

The Mathematics Club, a member of the national math organization, Mu Alpha Theta, was for the advancement of students highly interested in math. Monthly meetings featured guest speakers and contests between classes.

The purpose of this organization is to promote scholarship, enjoyment, and the understanding of mathematics on the high school and junior college level. Juniors and seniors enrolled in an advanced math course with an overall "B" average comprised the club's membership. Miss Dorothy Cox and Miss Esther Logan offered their competent assistance as the club's advisors.

The Science Club was constituted for students with an interest in science which extended beyond the class room. The principle purpose of the organization was to develop an interest in scientific fields and show its members the possibilities in scientific fields. In order to become a member of the Science Club, a student must have had one year of science and have had an overall B average.

Mr. Hoover, Mrs. Sullivan, and Mr. Lawrence served as the club's sponsors.

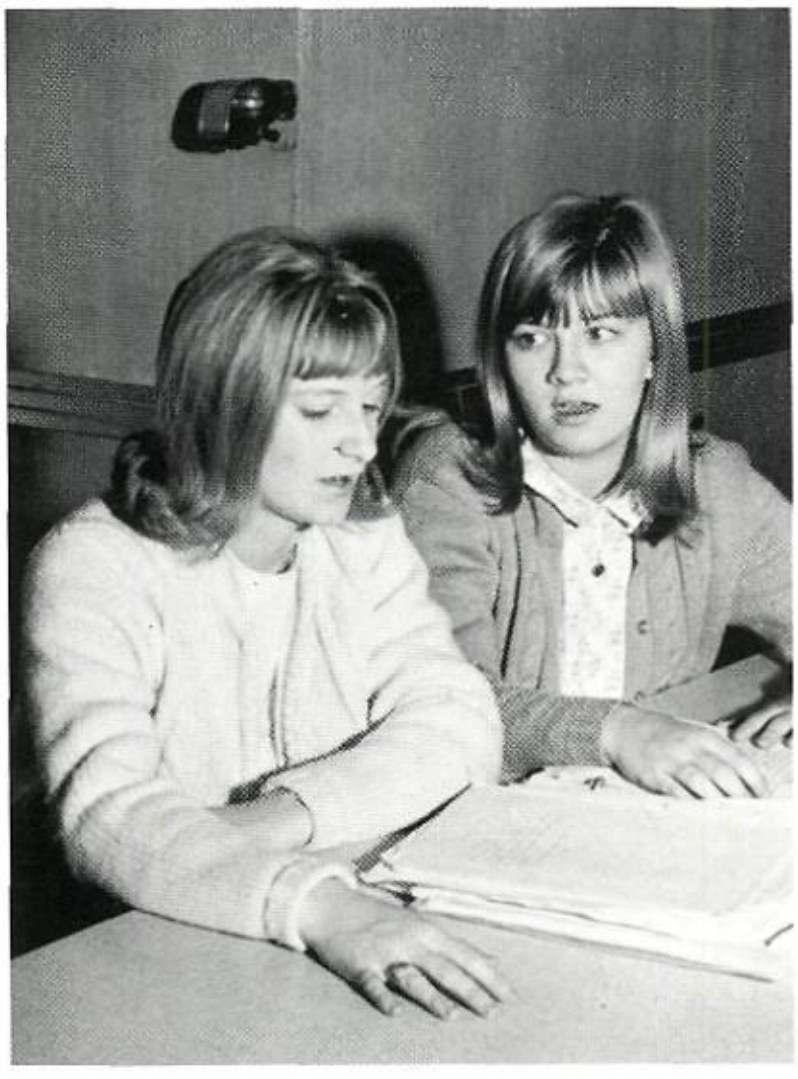
Theatrical Appreciation



President, Sharon Vanhorn plans program with Debbie Gray, Vice-president.

Students who were interested in dramatics joined the Playgoers Club. The activities of this organization include attendance of the plays produced by S.I.U. and making a trip to St. Louis to see a professional production. The only requirement to obtain membership is to attend dramatic productions.

Through the experienced leadership of Mrs. Cook, the club members had imbued in their minds a deep and lasting appreciation of theatrical performances.

Hi-Y

Hi-Y is a service club sponsored by the Y.M.C.A. for creating, maintaining, and extending standards of Christian character in the school, home, and community. Projects of the club include assisting charity drives and collecting articles of need for unfortunate children.

Lectures by Y.M.C.A. representatives plus enjoyable entertainment filled the agenda of the monthly meetings. Mr. John Stangle served this past year as the club's dedicated adviser.

Lab Assistants

Any student who had taken one year of science and wished to give up his study hall was eligible to be a lab assistant. These students with an active interest in the scientific fields of biology, chemistry, physics, and general science helped their respective teachers. They graded papers, supervised experiments, and aided in any other way which proved useful.

Spanish Club

The Spanish Club, under the direction of Mrs. Hoover, helped Spanish students at Community to develop an interest in the Spanish people and the culture of the country. During the year, students corresponded with Spanish pen pals, sponsored a Christmas party, and held several Spanish potluck dinners. The annual year's activities is given a special highlight with the annual picnic in the spring.

French Club

The French Club enjoyed its fourth year as an active organization at CCHS under the capable leadership of Mrs. Treece as sponsor, and Ron Rendleman as president. To be eligible for membership in the French Club, a student must be taking French or have had one year previously. The purpose of this organization is to broaden the student's knowledge of French and the customs of the country.

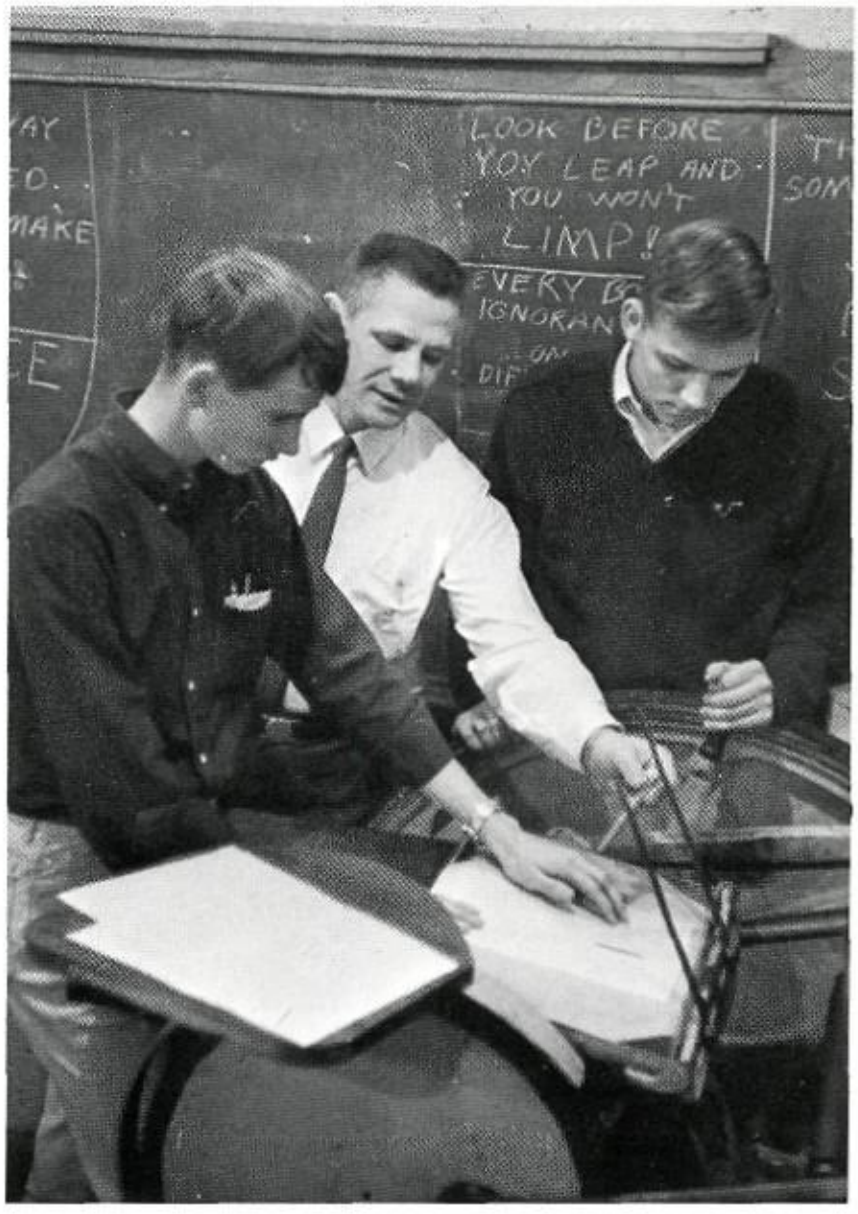
Education of Industrial Arts

The Industrial Education Club experienced its second year as an active and integral organization of CCHS. Any student taking an Industrial Arts course or having had one a previous year is eligible for membership. The club built props for the many plays performed during the year, printed many useful placards, and served as a very useful source for needed repairs. The success of the club weighed heavily upon the capabilities of Mr. Ott, Mr. Karber, and Mr. Newbern, its efficient sponsors.



Sponsor, Mr. Ott, and club members, George Jessop and Charles Sobery, examine a drawing during a monthly meeting.

Safety: Everywhere, Always

President, Mike Crackel regards safety measures with Mr. Odum.

The Safety Council in its second year of organization was sponsored by Mr. Odum. The purpose of this organization is to sponsor and promote safety practices throughout the school and community. As a new addition to the club's duties, the Council staged several safety campaigns while maintaining the Civil Defense radio.

Student Librarians

Many Students who gave up their study halls volunteered to aid Mrs. Harman in shelving and sorting the library's many volumes. For this effort, the Student Librarians' Club functions for promoting such interest among the student body.

Art Club

Anita Ellis, Francesca Lyman, Mary James, Barbara Parrish, George Jessop, Mr. Taylor.

The Art Club, sponsored by Mr. Taylor, activated additional interest among those students interested in painting or sculptoring outside the classroom. Although small in numbers, the Art Club filled a needed position in the varied interests of C.C.H.S. students.

One of the most active clubs of the school was the large group of Future Homemakers, who boasted one of the largest memberships.

Mrs. Todd, Mrs. Rogers and Mrs. Boone served efficiently as sponsors of FHA.

The ever expanding and active Future Homemakers of America continues to serve CCHS and the community through a variety of projects and activities.

F.H.A. began the school year by setting up certain goals for the new season in compliance with their motto, "Toward New Horizons." In working on this motto, they tried to develop better and happier homes for today as well as tomorrow. One goal was to provide a pleasant atmosphere in school life. This was accomplished by sponsoring the annual Sweetheart Dance, decorating Christmas trees, and supplying the school with a Thanksgiving basket. Other activities included panel discussions, presentation of a Homecoming float, and annual Bundle Drive.

The sponsors who served the club this past year were, Mrs. Todd, Mrs. Rogers, and Mrs. Boone. Through this capable panel of advisers, and with the leadership of Carolyn Logue serving as president, the Future Homemakers realized one of its most enriching years.

Cultivating Young Minds

Jim Roper served the Community Chapter as a faithful and diligent president.

The Future Farmers of America is an organization composed of students interested in vocational agriculture. Meeting monthly, the club discussed new methods and theories of farm production. The organization's basic goal —the development of competent agricultural leadership, was attained through practical experience—such as participation in livestock exhibits, parliamentary procedure contests, and an annual spring trip. As an added incentive, competition is offered on the individual, chapter, and national level throughout the United States. The CCHS Chapter has continued to represent the school in the spirit of excellence.

Future Teachers

The Future Teachers of America helps girls interested in the field of teaching explore the career, and gives special attention to necessary apptitudes and qualifications to become a teacher. Mrs. Friedline served ably as the adviser this past year, and the capable president, Charlotte Jones planned many interesting programs. Students with a "C" average or better and showing an interest in the teaching field were eligible for membership.

"C" Club

For participating in a varsity sport and winning a letter, a boy was enabled to join the Letterman's Club. Under the leadership of Mr. Pollock, these students represented the true Terrier spirit within the school. The year's activities included sponsoring sock hops, charity drives, and concessions areas for benefit games.

Adventures in the Business World

One of this year's fastest growing organizations was the Future Business Leaders of America. Mrs. Hudson, Mrs. Hollis, and Mr. Tarr sponsored the club with Gregg Fozard, Terry Wallace, Linda Flannagan, and Jackie Casper as officers. The main purpose of the club is to prepare students as business leaders. Social as well as educational activities are sponsored throughout the school year. Business leaders and former students often speak at the monthly meetings. Anyone taking a business course or having had one such course is eligible for membership.

Mrs. Hollis and Mrs. Hudson worked diligently with the club members to prepare interesting and worthwhile meetings.

Poetry Discussion

The Poetry Discussion Club, sponsored by Mrs. Treece, enjoyed its second year of activity this past year. The members meet weekly to discuss poetry, its meaning, and techniques. This organization serves as a beneficial aid to class room study of an intriguing art form. Anyone interested in poetry may join.

Medical Careers

The Medical Careers Club, advised by Miss Borah, served those students interested in the medical field. The Future Nurses in the club profited greatly from the experience of assisting the city hospitals each week in the afternoons. An added feature to the club activities this year was a scholarship program enacted by the aid of Miss Borah. Any student interested in a medical field could secure membership.

The Pep Club boasted one of the largest and most impressive exhibitions of any organization at Community High.

The Bark of the Terriers

This year as CCHS moved into a more competitive conference, the Pep Club had an even larger responsibility before them. This club, the largest organization at Community, has proven its worth at many a close game. During the football and basketball season, the entire membership sat in a specified area in order to provide a unified cheering section. Throughout the year, the club served as the spirit of the Terriers and the voice of the student body.

Pep Club president, Mike Stoelzle, with aid from Mr. Cherry and Mr. Butler planned many activities to support the Terriers.

Forensics was one of Community's most active clubs this past year. Mr. Davis once again served as the advisor and coach for the debate team. During the year, members entered debate contests, speech festivals, and other various tournaments. Many individual honors as well as school recognition was earned through the efforts of Forensics members. Every student involved gained an infinite amount of knowledge as well as experience in exchange for his efforts. Anyone interested in this area, whomaintained a C average was eligible for membership.

Group Guidance

This year, as homeroom was held each day, an added opportunity was made available for necessary discussion. A yearly program was set up by the guidance department that outlined the topic for each meeting. These sessions not only proved entertaining and interesting, but also very informative as well as beneficial. This new program also created a need for student leadership in a new field. In most cases each student became very involved in his topic of leadership through discussion, which proved rewarding for the individual and the group.

Nancy Vogler, Sally Hunsaker, Kerry Kloever, and Diane Curtis spent much time preparing home room discussions for their Freshman Class.

Mrs. Cook served as the capable advisor to the Thespian Society.

The National Thespian Society in its second year of existence, enjoyed a very successful year. Through the guidance of Mrs. Cook and president Mark Dare, many accomplishments were made towards advancing the precepts of drama. The year's activities included the annual children's Christmas play and the Thespian play presented to the student body. The new member's induction was held in the spring for some twenty members. In order to gain membership, one must earn points according to the number of lines performed on stage. The purpose of this organization is to promote dramatic interest on the high school and junior college level. Through the combined efforts of all Thespians, this and other goals were achieved.

Edythe Smith, Mark Dare, and Susan Baker worked together effectively to achieve the goals of the year.

Many after school rehearsals occupied the time of devoted Thespians.

Mark Dare served as a master Thespian as well as an efficient president.

Honored Dramatists

Several Thespians set a shining example of devotion in presenting the children's play, "The Wizard of Oz."

The cast, being small in numbers, provided the audience with an entertaining and often times horrifying amusement.

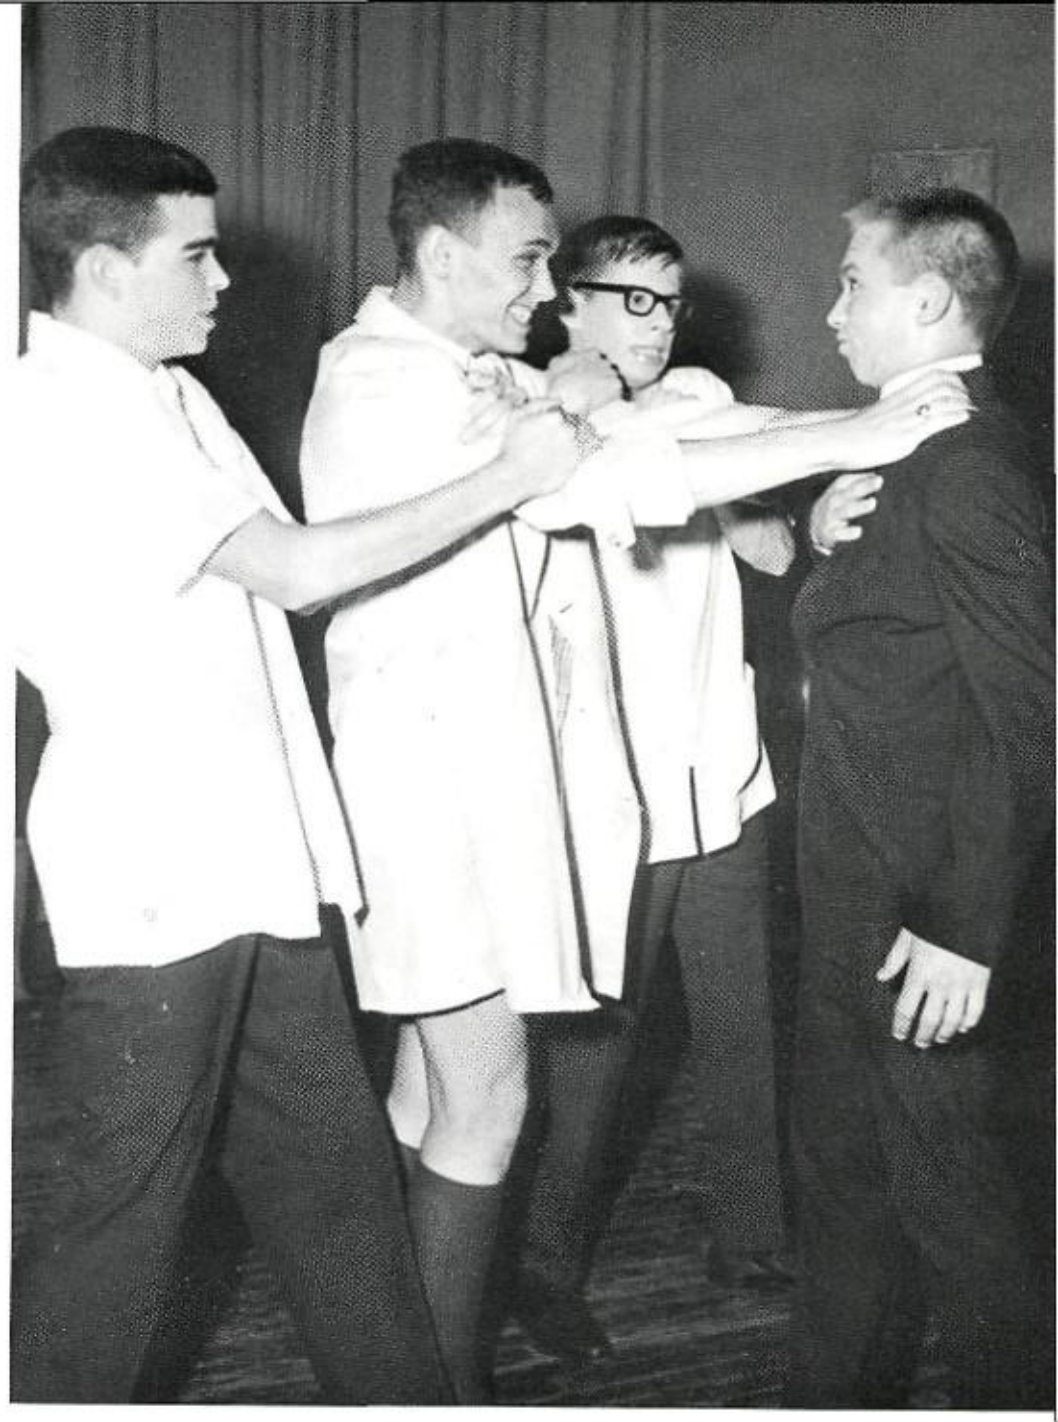
Whimsical Humor: Out of

The all school play gave everyone in the school an opportunity to display his theatrical ability, and gain a great deal of experience and knowledge. Each year this style of production is performed in order to deliver such benefits to the student body. As "Out of The Frying Pan" was presented, the audience was captivated by its skill in performance and in casting. Additional excitement was created as the plot unfolded to be a murder mystery with the victim often turning out to be the suspected murderer.

Darren Peckler presented a magnificent performance in his final year at Community.

Many scenes found the majority of the cast on the stage, finding excitement and creating interest.

the Frying Pan



The carefully chosen male cast proved capable of delivering an impressive performance.

In its entirety, the "Frying Pan" cast was a cross-cut of Thespian talent gathered from all the classes at C.C.H.S.

Charles Sobery and Jim Davenport portrayed the roles of two ruffians.

"Lil Abner" the spring musical at CCHS proved to be one of the great successes in the history of theatrical productions. Presented by the music and speech departments, the cast included over sixty members, portraying varied types of characters. The story taken from the comic strip character "Lil Abner" depicted the life of mountain fold suddenly exposed to city life. By the expert deliverance of all script, and the skillful acting of each cast member, the production experienced unlimited success and approval by all. Once again, Mr. Shiplett and Mr. Davis worked together in presenting the musical by molding the students through knowledge and practice.

A Smashing Sellout:

The entire cast does a lively dance routine which sparked up the successful musical.

Jean Ann McRoy delivered a skillful performance as Mammy Yokum.

The "Bye Bye Birdie" cast was one of great numbers and variety for all who were involved.

Janice Senkosky played as the leading teen-ager, displaying her theatrical abilities.

The enactment of the "Ed Sullivan" show was most interesting for everyone viewing the production.

Reproduction: Bye-Bye Birdie

"Bye Bye Birdie" was a Broadway musical presented through the co-operation of the speech and music departments. As the curtain rose, all the audience was aware of the time and effort involved to produce such a magnificent performance on the high school level. This being a satire on the teen-age singing idol, Elvis Presley, it blended in perfectly to the atmosphere of Community High. With the capable assistance of Mr. Shiplett and Mr. Davis who worked each evening, the fall musical was one of infinite success and entertainment.

The action began immediately as Ron "Conrad" stepped onto the stage.

Dressed in the traditional black and white, the band prepares for one of its many concerts.

Practice, Precision, Performance

Each day, as the academic hours began, the band practiced for an hour under the direction of Mr. Shiplett. This year, as in those past, the band of Community High School was a representation of pride and excellence. Although it was small in number, it proved quite capable of producing on the same level as those bands much larger.

After a summer journey to the World's Fair and a tour of the eastern states, the band returned for an active year of musical performances. At each home football and basketball game, an enjoyable half-time feature was presented for the fan's entertainment. In addition to these regular duties, a stage musical was presented plus the presentation of three concerts during the year.

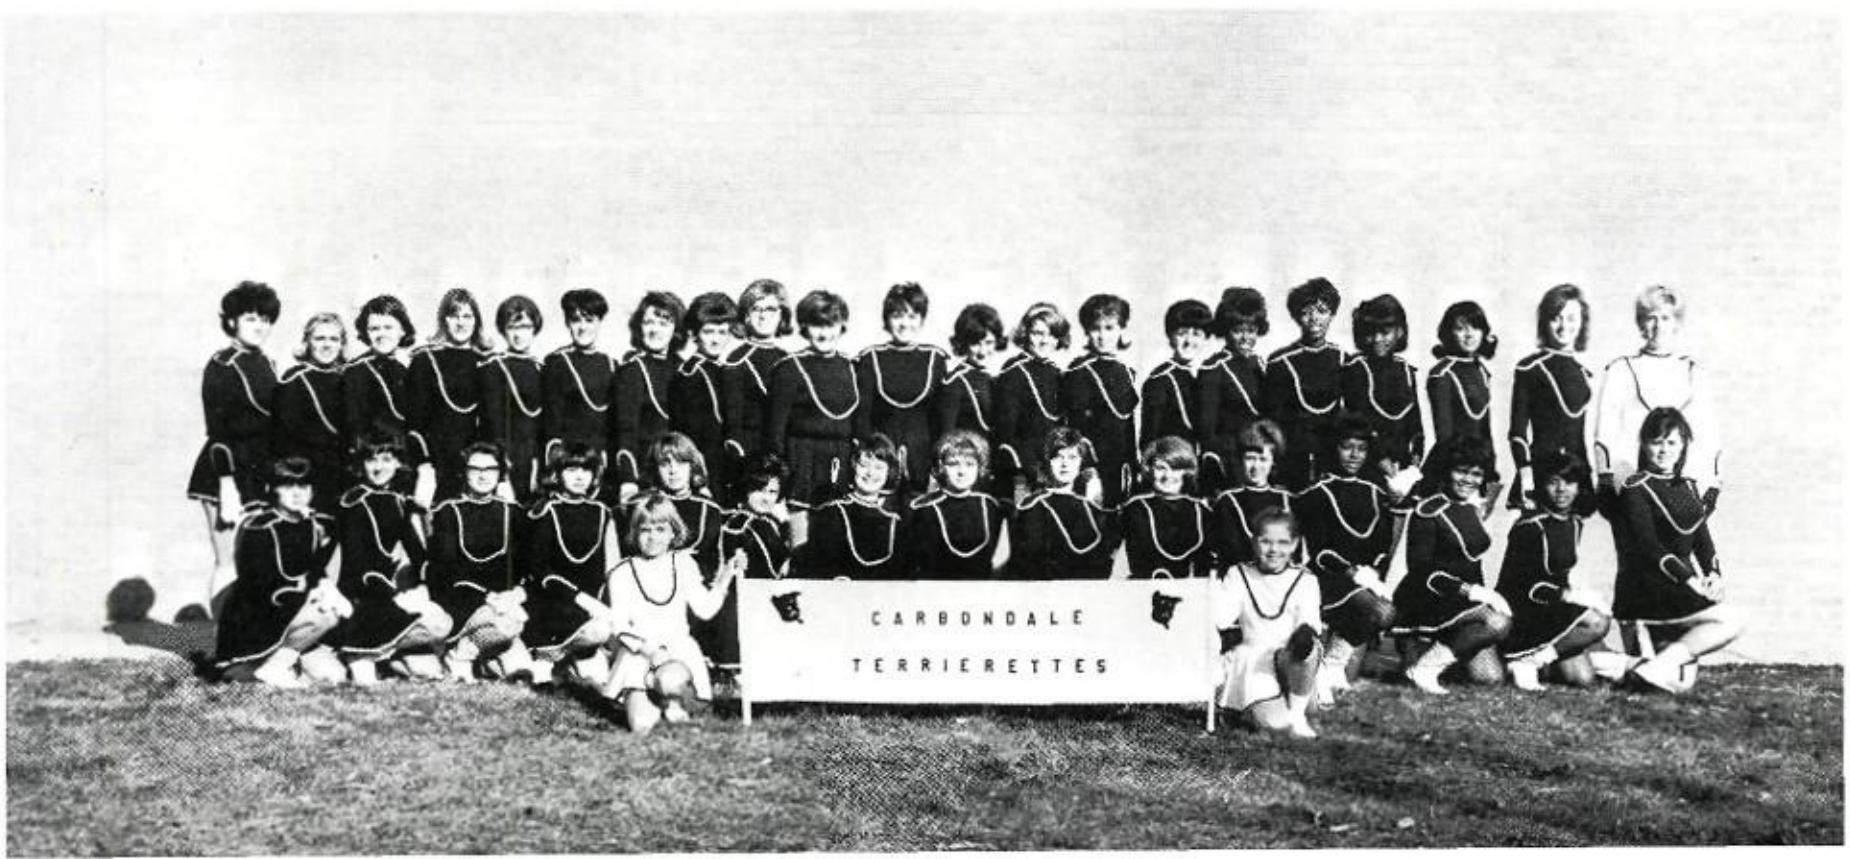
Headed by their captain, Brenda Jackson, the Lettergirls preceded the band at game half-times and in area parades with poise and grace. These girls practice daily in order to present themselves in a manner of precision and beauty.

Terrierettes

Dressed in their traditional black and white, the Terrierettes marched their way through many footbal half-times and parades. Under the guidance of Mr. Shiplett and captain, Linda Flanagan, they proved to be an ever present source of entertainment and pleasure.

First row: Mascots Chandra White, Kathy Hartman. Second row: Linda Groves, Marie Burk, Veronica Stearns, Stephanie Hall, Chris Brandhorst, Trudy Morgan, Janet Childers, Candy Walker, Carolyn Childers, Sharon Cooper, Vicki Peyton, Carolyn Brooks, Jennie Miller, Debbie Woods, Pam Herbert. Third row: Judy Woodside, Lauren Betts, Diane Rich, Doris Murray, Sheila Wilkey, Sharon Tomich, Mary Beth Lasly, co-capt., Debbie Meyer, Leeda Johnson, Sandy Frost, Nancy Gholson, Sharon Malloy, Pam Endsey, Diane Russell, Jeanne Lawrence, Darnella Wakefield, Ginger Jamison, Stella Mosely, Darlene Witherspoon, Kathy Whitacre, Linda Flannagan.



Linda Williams, Deanna Taitt, Joyce Warren, Lana Slicker, Patsy Todd.

Twirlers

Under the leadership of Mr. Shiplett and majorette, Patsy Todd, the five twirlers headed the band in parades and at half-times. Their daily practices, along with those of the band, proved to be a continual source of entertainment and pleasure.

Chorus

Under the direction of Mr. Shiplett, the growing chorus participated in the fall musical "Lil Abner", the Christmas concert, and in many other theatrical and musical productions. The sole requirement for membership is a genuine interest in the field of music.

the Terrier Spirit

One coveted position held by a select few at CCHS is that of the cheerleaders. Throughout the year, their pep and ability stimulated school spirit among the students and players alike. Leading cheers is only a small part of their job. They must prepare pep sessions, make posters to promote game attendance, and learn new and interesting cheers at their practices after school. Cheerleading must be first for them. Their time spent in this activity at school and camp during the summer is proof of their devotion to the activity.

Through constant practice, and under the watchful eye of the Varsity cheerleaders, the Junior Varsity rallied support for all of the Junior Varsity sport contests. In this, their year of preparation, they gained the needed experience to support the Terriers in the future.

As the magical hour of each social event draws near, anticipation mounts with the passing of each second. While it is understood that only one candidate may preside over the royal court, this acknowledgement of fact seldom enters into the consideration of one's emotions. Yet still there is another story to be told. The retiring queen must heartily greet the newly chosen queen with delight and enthusiasm, never exhibiting her reticence in relinquishing her exhalted position. However, as the suspense of the evening subsides, each heart captures the joy of the evening, disregarding every disappointment to securely lock the moment into cherished memories.

"Oriental Twilight"

Anxious for an evening of excitement, couples entered with great expectations. The exotic atmosphere of the mysterious Orient was created by the extravagant garden accented by a multi-colored fountain, and the unique but elegant throne which towered over the lovely queen candidates in the shape of a dome. The murals which covered each wall depicted various scenes found in the Far East. As each of the 1965 queen candidates approached the throne, the tension mounted and a hushed silence fell over all the couples. The silence ended as soon as the Junior class president, Herb McMeen, crowned Miss Pam Cochran, our 1965 Prom Queen.

Shortly afterwards, the couples proceeded to the University Ballroom for more dancing. The wee hours of the morning found many couples eating breakfast and preparing to depart for home. Leaving the Ballroom, each weary couple took with them memories that will never be forgotten.

Even though the rainfall dampened the Thursday night bonfire, Homecoming of 1965 was a great success. The annual Homecoming parade held on Friday afternoon gave each class and organization the chance to display their talent and individuality. Entering the old gym, each couple encountered several strands of colorful beads which promoted the atmosphere of festive Bourbon Street. Above all the noise and excitement, the music of Danny Kagel and his band could be heard. Then the lovely Brenda McAdamis was crowned the 1965 Homecoming Queen by Mike Stoelzle. After the charming new queen led the final dance, couples slowly but joyfully left the 1965 Homecoming behind them.

The Terrier pups, under the coaching of Bob Odum, played amid fierce competition this year in an attempt to develop the fundamental skills which they must exercise with precision when they move up to the varsity squad. The Sophomore team battled through a schedule which contained the same schools that the varsity team played and emerged with an honorable record. The highlight of the season was the afternoon they won a 19-6 decision over the Devils from Murphysboro. Backs Mike Cochran and Russ Mayer, and lineman Jim McAdamis were outstanding for the pups and worked toward the reputation as being future Terrier greats.

The largest Freshman team in the school's history, both in number and size, earned a record of four wins against two losses under the guidance of Walt Moore. Amid the numerous players Coach Moore found some of the finest individual talent ever to play for the Freshman team. Among the super-stars in the football future may be two of the large backs that started their careers; this year's quarterback, Bob Pankey, and fullback Mike Miller.

The Terrier football future looks bright for the next few seasons as these and other young players mature into the type of players that CCHS has traditionally produced.

Staunch Defense Sets

The crashing figure of "Peaches" Laster looms in the sight of a hurried passer.

During their first season in the South Seven Conference, the Terriers compiled the best record in Southern Illinois with one of the greatest teams in the school's history. The offensive unit scored at a rate of over thirty points per game, the highest output in Little Egypt. The dogs featured a balanced attack in which the running and passing attacks were each strong enough to score though the other faltered. Milton Harkins led the rushing phase with his darting, minnowy style and his miraculous escape from tacklers. He was named to every all-conference team. Dick Langdon's passing to Terry Wallace and Phil Gilbert brought many points to the Terrier scoreboard and all-conference honors to Langdon and Wallace. Dan McKissic was the most outstanding place kicker in the area with forty extra points in forty-two attempts.

Little Egypt's toughest unit was the CCHS defense which held its opponents to an average of less than four points per game. All-conference tackle, "Peaches" Laster led the defensive line which stopped most of the opposition's running attacks. A school record number of nineteen pass interceptions were picked off by Tom Langdon, Jim DaRosa, Jim Kelly, Gary Gibbs, Bob Bahr, Dan McKissic, and "Peaches" Laster. The defense either scored or set up many Terrier touchdowns as they aided the offense in point production.

Mr. Tarr uses a Honda to keep tabs on his cross-country runners.

Speed and endurance, strength and determination—these exemplified and proven qualities of Carbondale Community High School's 1965 cross country squad earned the great appreciation of the student body, as cross country was added to the long list of sports, football, basketball, baseball, track, golf, and wrestling, in which CCHS has proven, by sound and persuading accomplishments, its excellence.

The 1965 cross country accomplishments were indeed persuading, as the team, coached by James Tarr and lead by the strong performances of Carlton Ivy and Carroll Eaves, bettered last year's impressive 7-2 record by compiling an 8-2 mark against strong competition. Carroll Eaves, Carlton Ivy, George Miller, and Mike Crackel concluded brilliant cross country careers for the Terriers with consistent success.

Long hours of painful conditioning were necessary in the building of the Terriers' impressive record. Cross country is a sport for those who can take grinding punishment. 1.9 miles make a long, hard road on which only the hardiest of runners travel. Carlton Ivy, Carroll Eaves, L. C. Brasefield, Mike Golliher, Mike Crackel, David Whitacre, Ulysses Marshall, and George Miller made an undeniable and permanent claim upon that road as a Terrier road.

and Team Effort

Sound shooting, razor-sharp coordination, reliable rebounding, a demoralizing defense, and assuring team depth established the 1965-66 Terriers in their first year in the powerful South Seven Conference as a league leader.

Lead by the overwhelming inside shooting of Bill Perkins and "Peaches" Laster, and the balancing outside shooting of Phil Gilbert, the Terriers impressed Southern Illinois with sparkling shooting performances all season.

The true quality of Coach John Cherry's team was most evident in the smooth team coordination, featuring the pinpoint passing of Terry Wallace and Ken Lewis.

In the opening weeks of the season, Terrier rebounding was somewhat unreliable. However, the determined constitution of the Terrier squad was perhaps exemplified in its great improvement in rebounding, as, at the regular season's end, rebounding was one of the most impressive factors in Terrier victories.

The demoralizing effect of the Terrier man-to-man—zone combination defense cannot be overly emphasized. Perkins and Laster, protecting the basket, cast tall shadows on the scoring plans of opponents, while Wallace, Gilbert, and Lewis covered the backcourt in a tight and harrassing man-to-man attack.

The outstanding depth of the 1965-66 squad produced a Terrier advantage in many games, as Coach Cherry was able to rely on sparkling performances from his reserves, particularly Jesse Miller and L. C. Brasefield.

The CCHS wrestling team had one of their best seasons in the school's history. Their dual meet record was eight wins and five losses, but the highlights of the year came with second places in both the Murdale Invitational and the IMSA District tournaments.

New teams such as Charleston and Jackson, Missouri and East St. Louis were added to the dual meet card. During the year, the Grappling Club was formed by Coach Wagner and the wrestlers; its purpose is to promote wrestling throughout Southern Illinois.

In the state final eliminations, CCHS placed higher than it ever has before by taking second to East St. Louis in the District. From the district, five Terrier grapplers advanced to sectional; they were Walter Green, Jud Etherton, John Staley, Mike Crackel, and George Miller. These boys were outstanding for the Terriers all year, and Etherton and Miller finished the season by taking fourth places in the sectional tournament. The next season should be even better than this year as Coach Wagner and twenty lettermen will be returning to attempt to make wrestling a major sport at CCHS by attaining the best team in Southern Illinois.

A fine team effort characterized the 1965 Terrier Golf team, coached by Sam Thornton and Jim Tarr. Led mostly by Sophomores, it was the first golf team in the history of CCHS. Although most members of the squad were good golfers, they were inexperienced in competitive golf, except for Chuck Grace, who, due to his advantage of playing in several competitive tournaments served as the team's best scorer with an average score of 39.

The boys played at such courses as Jackson County Country Club, Shawnee Hills, and Midland Hills where they played their best game against Harrisburg shooting a 164, an average of 41 per man, to win the game by five strokes. They finished eighth in a field of ten in the Harrisburg Invitational and tied for fourteenth with Herrin in a field of sixteen in the District Tournament at Benton; however, the Terriers almost upset the winners of the District, Carterville, by losing to them by only two strokes in regular play, so their record of three wins and seven losses did not do justice to the full potential of the team.

As the team enters the South Seven Conference with such powerful teams as Mt. Vernon, Benton, and Centralia, they will meet a challenge. Despite this, the hopes for the future are bright since the Terriers will be led by returning lettermen, Dan McKissic, Jerry Tucker, Ron Patterson, and Phil Gilbert. Their attack will depend upon overall team strength which may prove better than individual performance.

Determination Yields

Larry McDaniel carries both the baton and CCHS relay hopes.

The 1965 Terrier track team, coached by John Cherry and Walt Moore, bowed out of the SWE by displaying great strength in the relay events. Terrier quartets set conference records in the freshman and varsity 880 yard and mile relay events. The team members strived to develop outstanding team spirit and proved that they did this. Seniors Bob Mitchell, Lynn Howerton, Bill Walker and Doug Walsh hung up their spikes after a fine season.

High points of the season came when the Terriers' three most important meets, conference, Carbondale relays, and the IHSA District were held on our own track. Our peerless facilities were credited with aiding runners in lowering records.

Although the Terriers have not been a great track power in the past few years, they have shown great determination. With a number of last year's lettermen and some great talent graduating from the junior varsity ranks, the Terrier thinclads can look forward to a fine debut in the South Seven Conference.

Homerun for

John Allen listens to Coach Butler's voice of experience—thorough knowledge and sound judgement.

The 1965 season proved to be a good one for Coach Gordon Butler's Baseball Terriers. They compiled a conference record of seven wins against five losses while maintaining an overall record of eleven wins and seven losses. The team was fighting for the conference title which ended in a four way battle between Du Quoin, Anna, Murphysboro, and Carbondale until the last ball game.

The highlight of the season was winning the District tournament and playing two games in the Regional tournament, the first of which they over-powered a fine DuQuoin team by a score of four to one, only to be routed out by a strong Murphysboro team in the second game.

The ball team fought hard, hustled continuously, and their greatest feature was the squeeze play which they executed with perfection. The pitching was fostered by Dick Langdon, who won seven games and lost only two. Ron Darnell led the team with the most hits, twenty-two, the most runs batted in, nineteen, and had the highest batting average, a respectable .369.

Although the Terriers are leaving the Southwest Egyptian Conference with an honorable record and the reputation as being a top contender, a number of strong independent teams will more than make up for the loss; however, with a number of last year's lettermen returning, the team can look forward to another fine season.

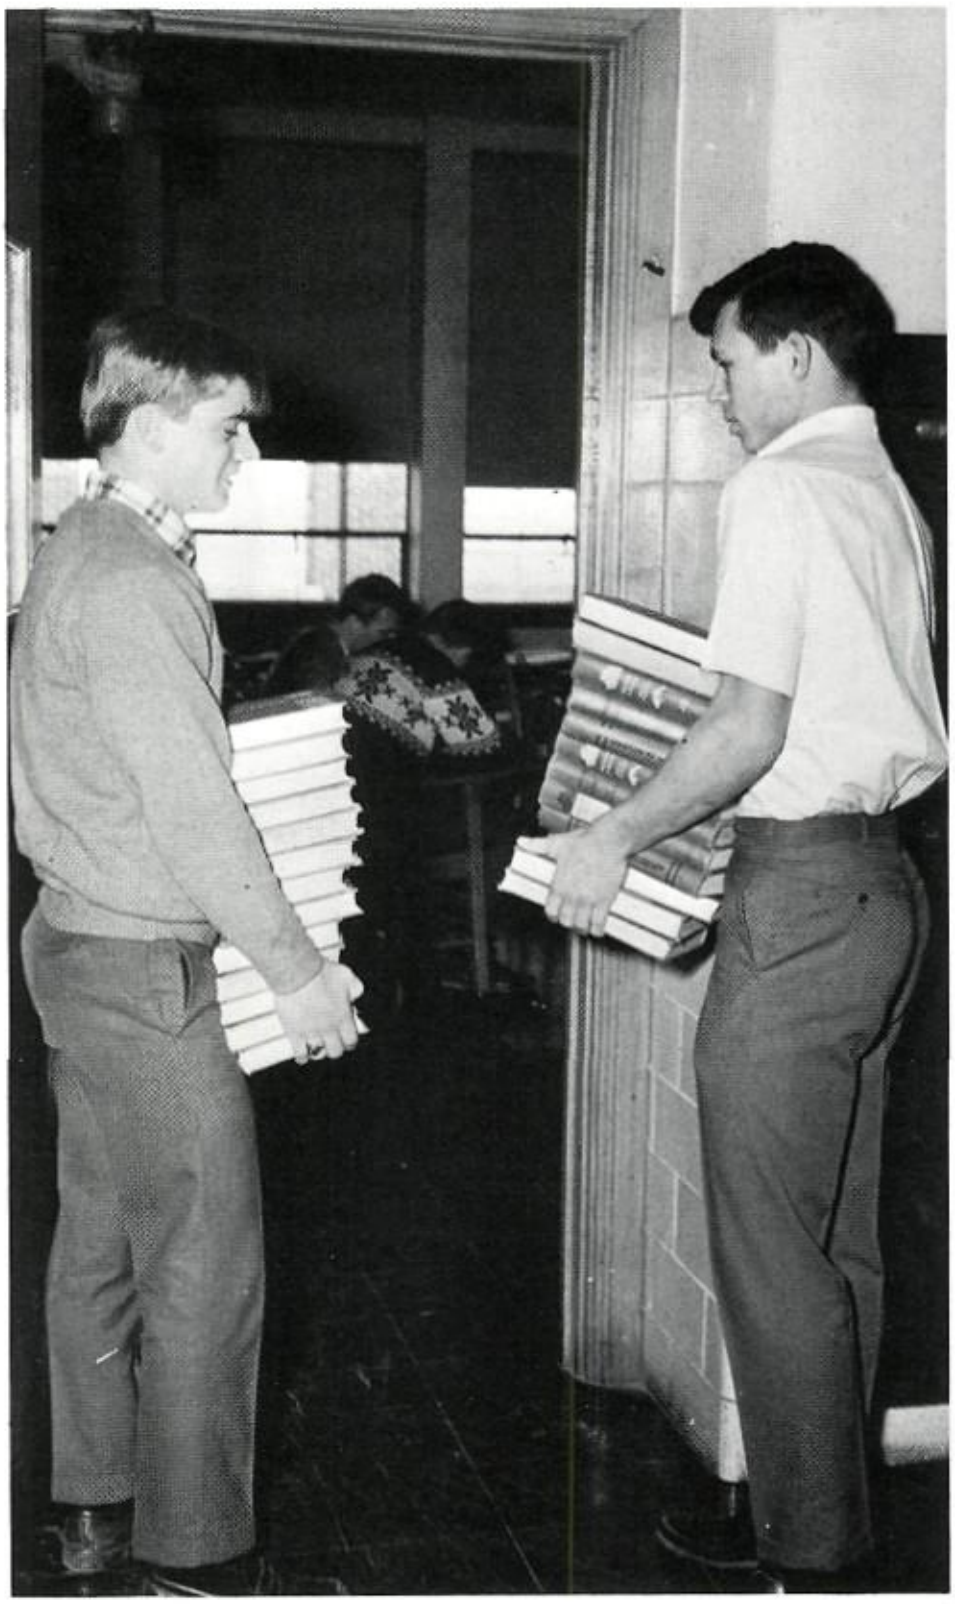
The old . . .



The traditional . . .

As each class experiences the special moments which somehow seem to make it the best of all those past, every student possesses memories which will never be lost in the passing of time. But as our contemporaries pass through the portrayals of their academic explorations, certain qualities are surrendered to those just embarking upon the journey. Thus, as time marches on, the present sect continues to mature just a bit better and always to a fuller degree, to once again prove to man that there shall always be a remainder of the old in each segment of the new.

These ten seniors were selected by the faculty as the outstanding members of the Class of 1966. Four years of active participation in the affairs of CCHS, in addition to maintaining a B average, renders them deserving of this honor. have had an invaluable effect on the organization and reputation of CCHS. The achievements of these ten reflected not only their own abilities but also the attitudes of their class in striving for the maximum accomplishments. The term senior implies the highest state of achievement. It is more than merely a label for fourth year students; it signifies not only a physical maturity but also a mental maturity. The great task of fulfilling our place in life must be continued. This is to enable us to make our services effective in complex society. Our high school diploma itself is important but we must supplement it by exhibiting superior qualities of character, personality, and intellectuality as well as demonstrate anew the value of this education of modern society. Those of us who are seniors, like each preceding class, will now join the band of alumni. Our experiences have been so enriching that we have become indebted to our fellow students, our teachers, and our school. Community spirit and loyalty has perhaps come so close to some of us that its potentialities are not fully recognized. The bewildered and apprehensive freshmen of four years ago have achieved abilities representative of their highest expectations; we march into commencement prepared to face the complexities of a changing world.

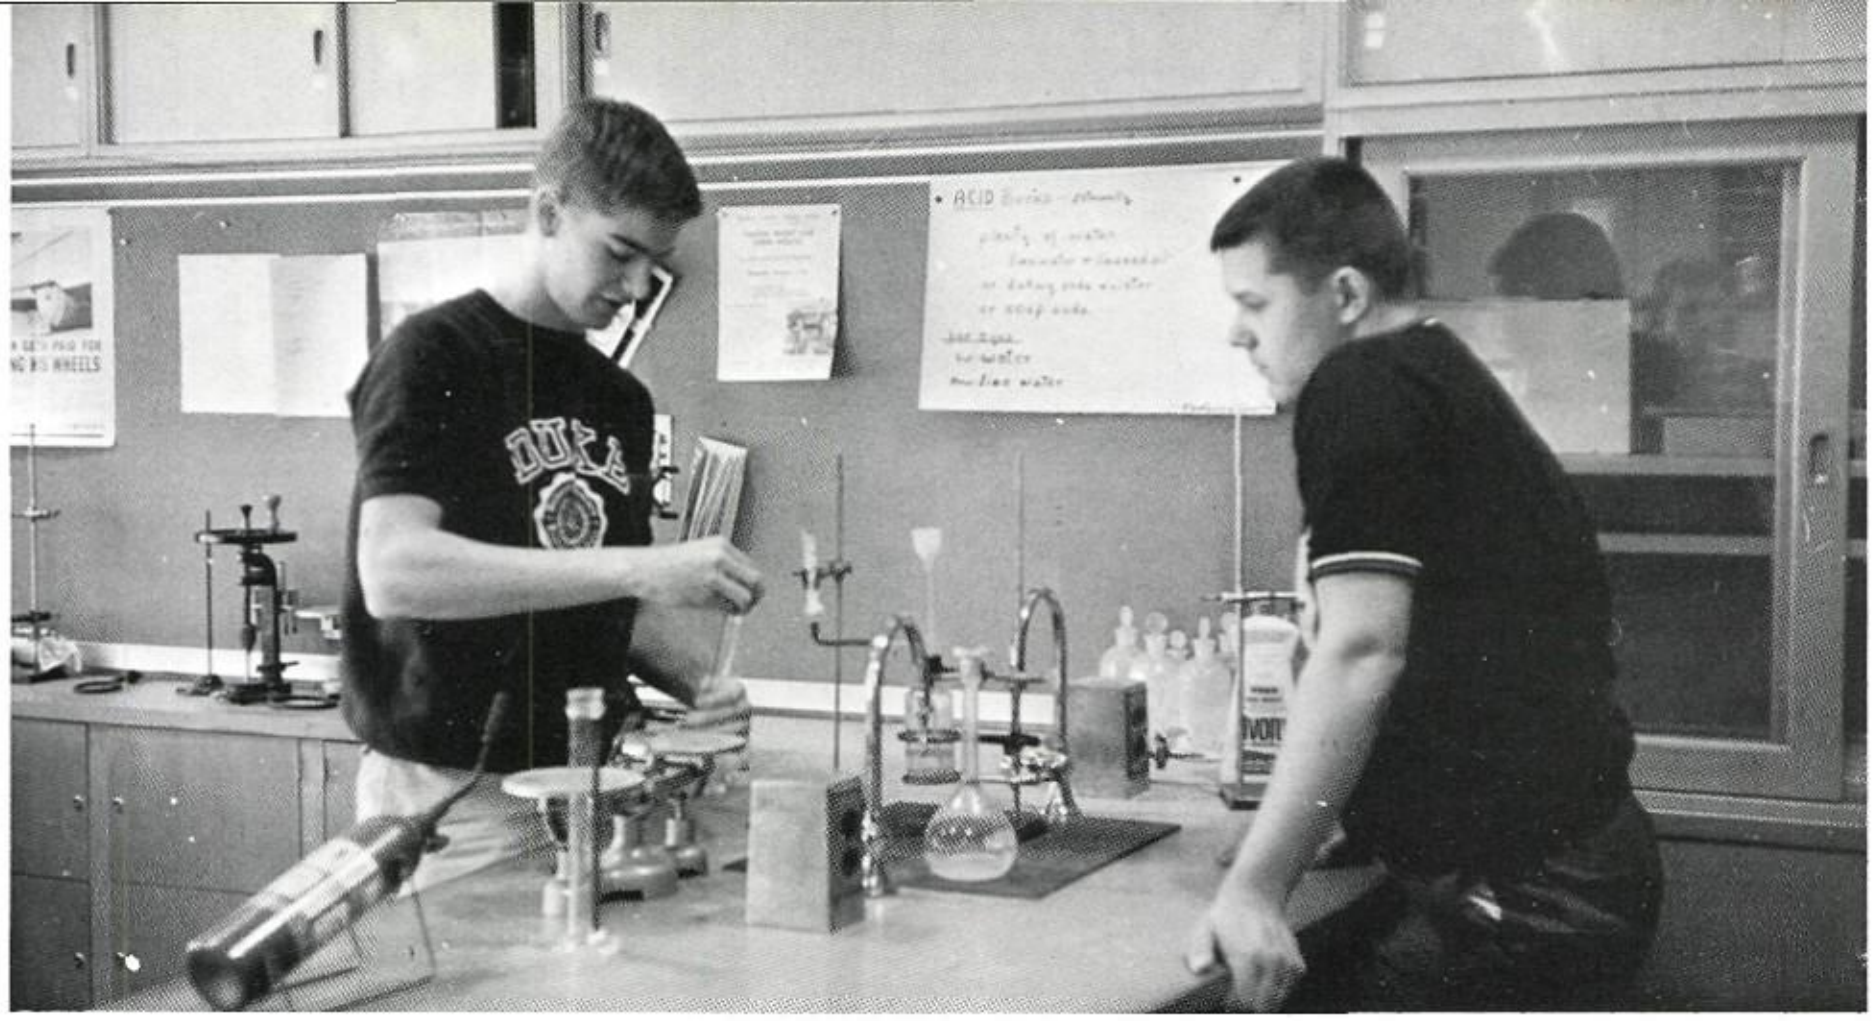
Expectations and Explorations

Much time and effort was spent on the original senior float.



Phil Lenzini and Bob Jarvis through experimentation put their knowledge of chemistry to use.

Formula for the Junior Year . . .

Even though we entered the doors of CCHS for the third year, we were filled with anticipation for the many new and varied activities that the junior year affords. Having attained the coveted title of upperclassmen, we accepted the responsibility of leadership in the school.

This year began with a broader curriculum as we planned for many varied careers. Football season came, and our boys put on varsity jerseys for the first time with the wholehearted support of a great class. A united effort of the junior class was working in the concession stands, raising money for our greatest responsibility, Prom.

Winter brought basketball games, Christmas vacation, Sno-ball, and the dreaded semester exams. A special highlight of our junior year was the Junior Class Play.

With spring came track, baseball, club picnics, and our toils and efforts paid off in one of the most successful proms ever.

The "mad dog" defense was a key factor in the success of the junior dominated varsity squad.

During lunch, Sharon Tomich, Sharon Stocks and Bill Resnik relax and discuss the day's schedule.

Entering C.C.H.S. with a year of high school behind us, we, as sophomores, fell easily into the rush and hurry of school days. We exhibited with pride the knowledge we had gained as freshmen. We settled down to serious studies, and September rolled into October, bringing football. The united effort of our class paid off in a prize winning float and a great Homecoming. As the year progressed, we took a more active role in school events. Fall became winter and basketball season was here. The joy of Christmas and the thrill of another Sno-ball flew by all too quickly. The winter days passed one by one and all too soon it was semester time.

Spring brought new sports and a restless fever in every student.

As this year drew to a close, we recalled many things—daily activities, both important and unimportant, that helped us to prepare for our new role as upperclassmen.

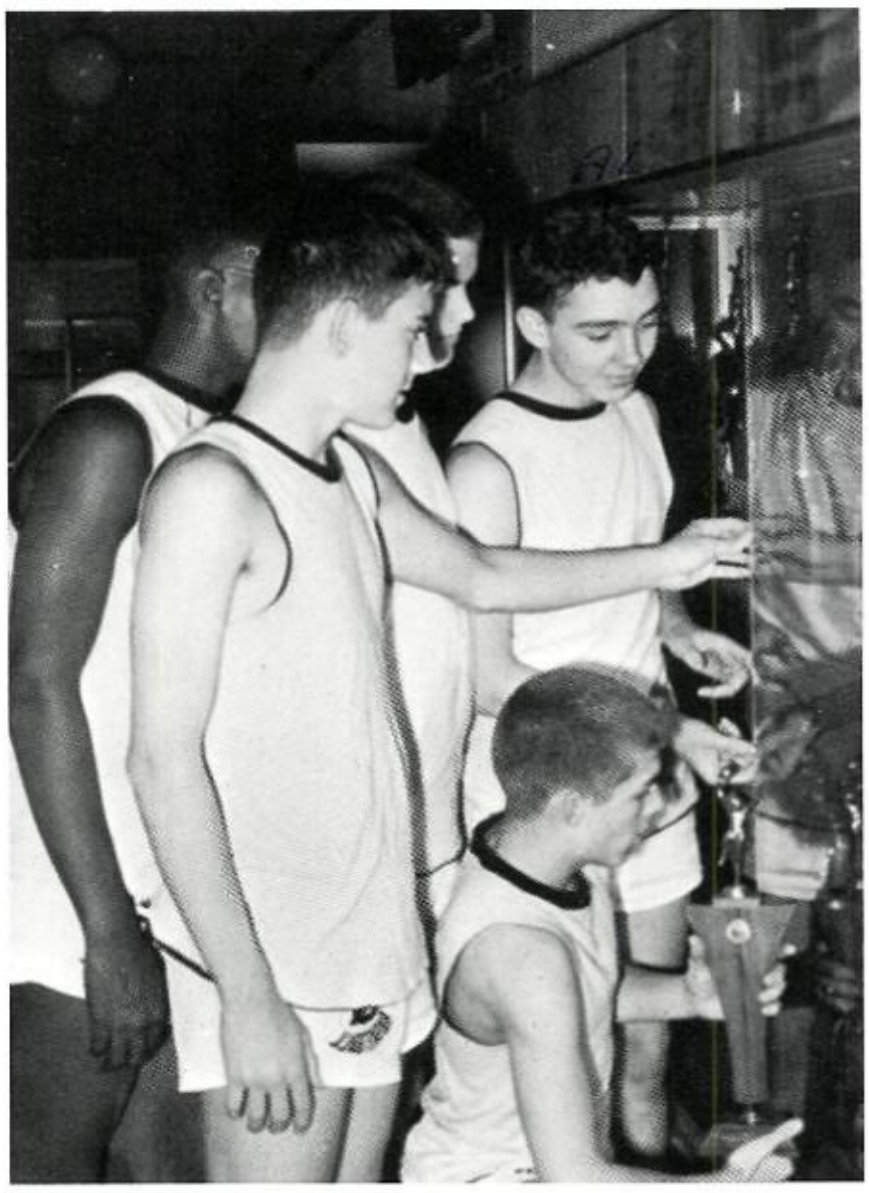
Freshmen keep up a lively conversation at lunch.

Freshmen Are Introduced

Freshmen admire the first trophy of their high school career.



As one class of freshmen following another, we experienced many strange and frightening feelings. There was the joy and excitement of taking part in the big social events and the knee-shaking feeling of taking semester exams for the first time. We also knew the feeling of pride as we cheered our Terriers on to victory. Most of all we experienced the satisfaction of having done a year's job well.

We found the school a little apalling at first, but it became friendlier with each succeeding day. The days traveled by quickly with the anticipation of coming events.

Now as we pass from these halls for the last time as freshmen, we are proud of the achievements we have made. We hold this past year as a special kind of memory because we will look on it with both happiness and sadness in the years to come.

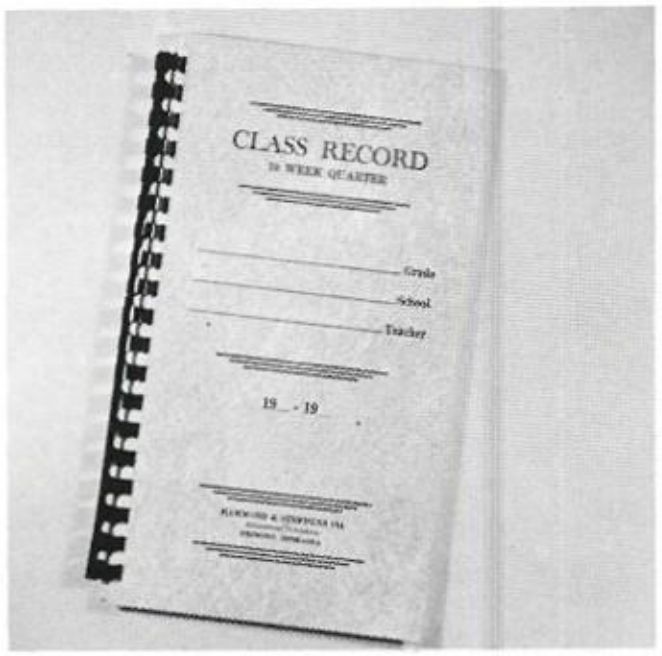
The new . . .

The traditional . . .



In order to maintain an extraordinary degree of excellence in the development of immature minds, it is continually necessary for the progressive development of the instructor. Only by these means is it possible to gain the success which is hoped for in our educational institutions, and without this harmony of mutual cooperation, we could not hope for, and we would not deserve our superior height of success.

O. K. BOWEN

With an enrollment of over twelve hundred students, the 1965-66 school year was one of expansion, developement, and improvement. Not only did the ranks of the faculty swell, but there were also changes in the curriculum and the administration.

Mr. George Kuhn, who accepted the position of principal, served capably and efficiently in his first year at Community. O. K. Bowen undertook the arduous role of guiding the administrative offices. Under the careful direction of these servants, CCHS further maintained its steadfast tradition of excellence.

The pathway to better living is becoming more difficult to acquire because of the higher standards of modern living. As the need for specialized training increases, a college education becomes not only more necessary but also harder to achieve. Nevertheless, with proper guidance and foresight, our hopes, dreams, and ambitions can be fulfilled. The guidance department is designed to assist the individual in choosing his life career.

A subject of never-ending discoveries, mathematics, opens many new and exciting experiences for enthusiastic students. It has become essential for all college-bound students, and to anyone interested in becoming an up-to-date individual. A variety of courses are offered to benefit the entire student body regardless of their ability or future plans.

It has been a hard fought battle Bob but I believe we made it! Keep up the good work.

Languages: The Passport to Increasing Knowledge

Today, the demand for increasing knowledge and understanding stresses the importance of the ability to communicate freely and intelligently. Our world is rapidly shrinking as a result of improved transportation and communication. Therefore, an efficient method of exchanging opinions and ideas between the people of the world is a necessity. In recognition of this need, the Language Department maintains the largest number of teachers. They do their best to provide the students with a passport to knowledge, the foundation for a better tomorrow.

Fine Arts: The Guides to Appreciation

A knowledge of the fine arts produces an appreciation of them. This appreciation becomes more oftenly used in our cultural world of today. The eyes and ears are being trained to value the sight and sound of beauty, for a great nation cannot allow its cultural education to deteriorate. The ability to speak well is also an art. One must be able to intelligently communicate his ideas to others. The Art, Music, and Speech Departments at CCHS are united in the effort to guide the students in appreciation of the fine arts.

Employment, often disregarded by high school students, becomes the main objective in the adult world. As a result of better education, job opportunities are given only to the best qualified. Consequently, more and more training is being required for obtaining these jobs. The business, typing, and shorthand courses supply the necessary training to all interested students.

Special Education: Aid to Effective Living

The Special Education Department assisted the students in adjusting themselves to the high school curriculum, resulting in preparation for more effective citizenship.

Academic, social, and vocational aid is offered through specialized techniques and materials, and adjusted curriculums, as well as expertly trained staff members and administrators. Through this program CCHS provides for a more complete and accurate system of education.

Marketable Skills: The Guide to Vocational Training

The second year of the Vocational Trade Skills School proved that once again C. C. H. S. has maintained its high degree of excellence. Through expansion of its facilities in small appliance repair, drafting, food preparation, clothing trades, and mechanics a great deal of technical knowledge is taught.

An expertly trained staff and administrator plus excellent equipment provide for a more complete education for those who seek it in this area.

For the protection and promotion of the students' health and welfare at CCHS, Miss Borah filled the position of school nurse. From routine blue slips to occasional emergencies, she proved herself most beneficial.

Eugenia Handler served as a proficient counselor between the people and the school personnel this past year.

A capable staff of typists, stenographers, and copyists fulfilled the needs of the administration, faculty and students. In addition to their skills and services, they remained pleasant and cheerful throughout the stress of the day. An indispensable aid to our system, our secretarial staff served most competently.

Cooks and Custodians: The People on Whom We Depend

Often unnoticed and unappreciated our cooks and janitors spend long, hard hours making CCHS more comfortable for the students. Well-planned and delicious meals are prepared day after day. All the details of maintenance which keep a school running smoothly are carefully performed by our custodians. Unknowingly, the school is indebted to the dedicated people who work behind the scenes.

The new . . . .

The traditional . . .

Once again the passing of time is evident as one leaves the academic environment of the school campus. Here, as in all arenas of life, visual acknowledgement is made of both old and new. As the casual wanderer strolls through the downtown area, he can relive the past as well as imagine the future as it one day may be. In the atmosphere of the aftertime, the aspirants of tomorrow's business world explore the future on its own terms.

Bob,
This year has really been great!
I have really enjoyed Algebra.
Lots of luck to a real great guy!
Love ya,
Cindi

Bob..
It's been fun knowing
you this year in science
Lots of luck in the next three years, and even more important in the years ou

Al
Sobek

Bob,
I sure have enjoyed being in all our classes together. Good Luck in playing golf & baseball this summer. Good Luck in future years at C.C.H.S.
Your friend,
Roger Walker

Robert

Troop 60 was so much fun it can't believe it. We went on so many campouts together I think we know each other fairly well. Good luck in Football next year. Take that from a super-star (don't take me seriously bobby)

Youre pal

John Michael Miller the 3r

Bob,

This year has gone by so fast. I can't believe we're almost Sophomores.

Sadie Hawkins was fun. I really had a good time. Maybe we can do it again someday.

I think you are one of the neatest freshman boys. Sherry is a lucky girl.

Good luck in Sports.

Be good and always stay as nice as you are.

Mary Lewis

Bob

Lots of luck in the future to a neat boy. I wish you success in football next year. Hope you can find some more cousins

Jim

Bob,

Well, the year is almost over. I hope yours was as neat as mine. Lots of luck to a great fella. Be good and don't do anything I wouldn't.

Love,

Fred

Dear Bob,

Well the year has really gone by fast, hasn't it? You bet. We've been good friends for a long time now and I hope it stays that way. Remember all the fun we've had since the eighth grade. And don't forget Sadie Hawkins. What a blast! I think I'll always remember your tie & tie clamp. Really wild! Always keep your neat sense of humor and I know you'll go far. Keep up the good work in sports, your one of the best. Good luck in the future and in all the rest of high school. As usual

Love always.
Sherry

Dear Bob
Hasn't this year gone fast. It has been real nice knowing you this year. Best of Luck in the next 3 years at C.C.H.S.

Yours
Sherry Hilliard

Dear Bob,

Its been a lot of fun this year. I hope you have as good a year next ~~year~~ year as this year.

Good luck,
George "Butch" Davis

Bob,

I have had a lot of fun with you this year. I hope to have more fun this summer & hope to see you then. Good luck in the future.
Bob Wheatley

Dear Bob,

Our Freshman year really has been a fun one. If you & Marlin will start shaving your women, it could be better next year. I'll probably see you next summer but if I don't, don't Forget me.?!
Stay out of Trouble & Good luck.

Friend always,
Glen F.

P.S. Thanks for voting for me.

Dear Bob
Well, here we are.
I'm almost a Senior,
and you're almost a Soph. (I hope you make it pal)! Study hall has been loads of fun (HA!) this year!
I'll never forget all the fun you've been a boy from school this year! Good luck to a real sweet guy & be good!
"Love Ya"

Oh
Take good care
care of your things
anybetter than God?
things! As I said before and I hope to see you in the summer. Are you still going to run away from home? Dad because me & your father will have to beat you down + beat you butt. GOT IT!?

Your Loving Son
Linda
Rosalind

Bob
You've been a good friend through High School and I hope our friendship lasts a long time
Good luck to a real swell guy.
Bob Maurizio

Dearest Robert,
You are real cool. Really,
It has been fun in G.B.
with you this year. I hope we are in some classes together next year.
Terry Etherton

Bob,
Good luck
in the future. Your a real neat guy Bob. And stay that way Bob. And be hard for you to do that. From a neater guy. (Just kidding)
John Tucker

Dear Bob,
Good luck in the future and I'm sure that you will be a great
Buzz

Bob,
We had some great times together and I hope we can have some more on the next 3 years. Best wishes and good luck
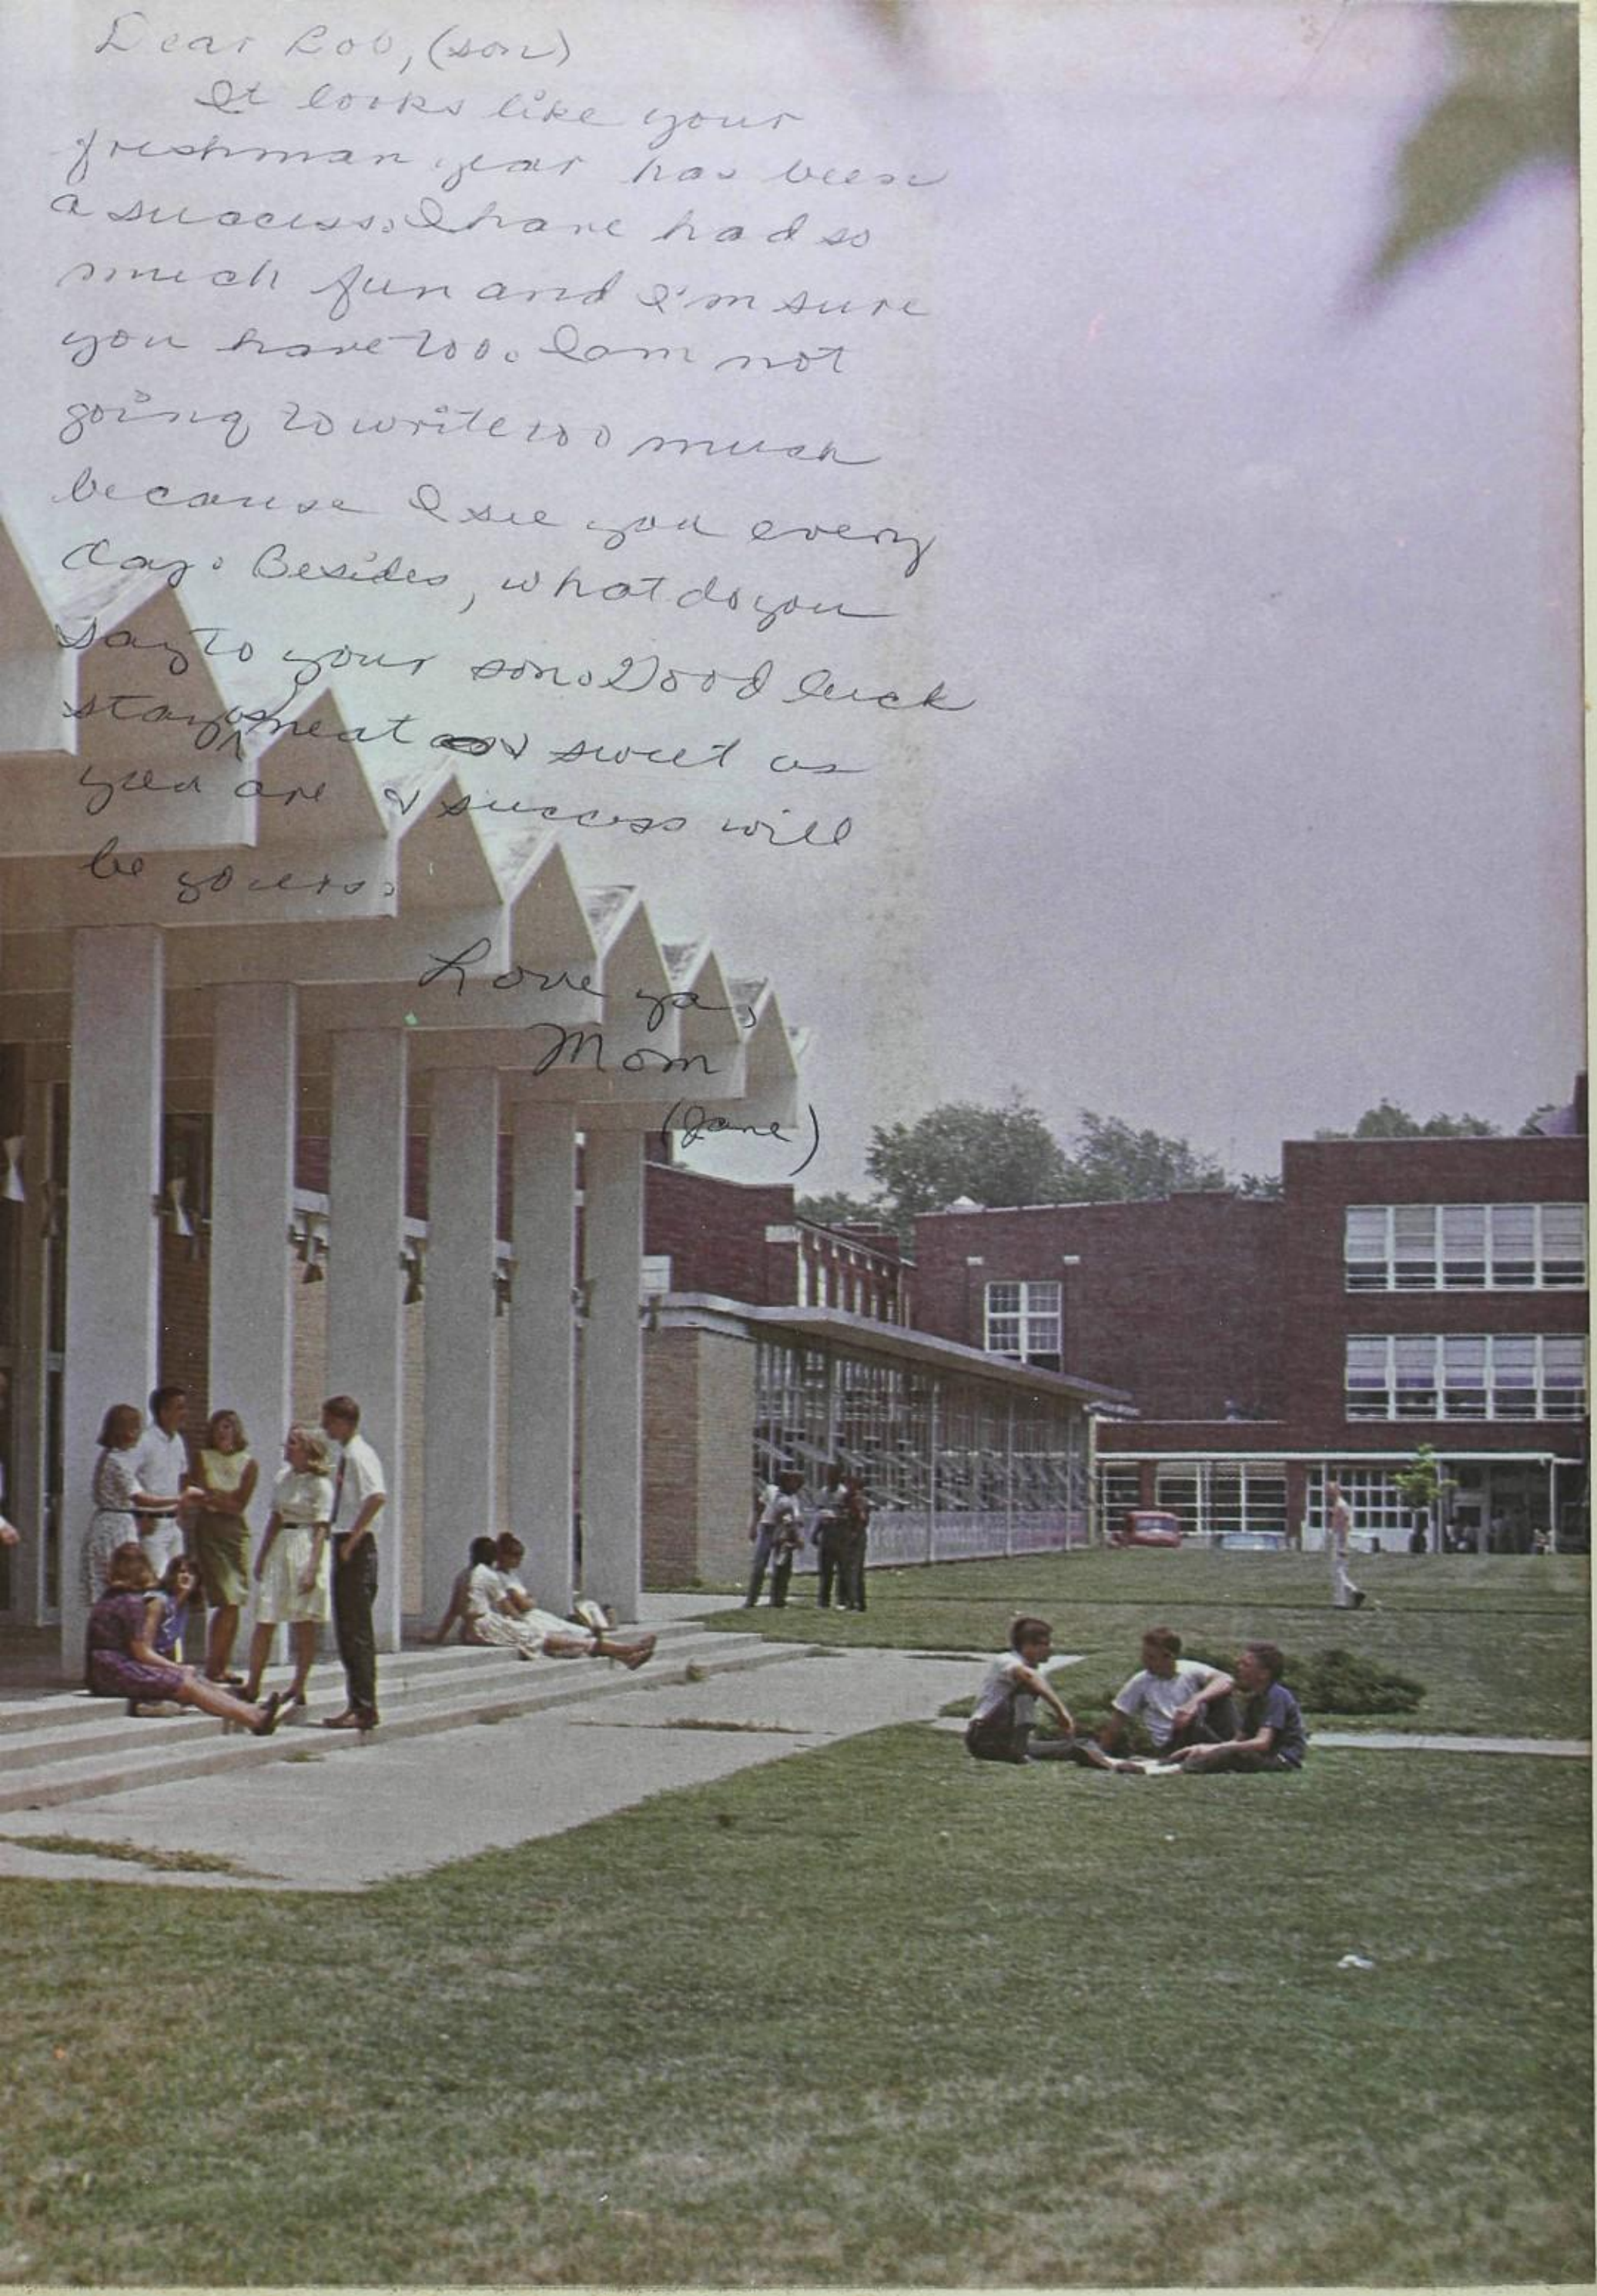
to a neat guy.
Tom Thomson

Dear Rob, (son)

It looks like your freshman year has been a success. I hope you had so much fun and I'm sure you have too. I am not going to write too much because I see you every day. Besides, what do you say to your son. Good luck on your test and success will be yours.


Love ya,
Mom
